Early Vote on Veto

Johnson Aiming at Housing Decision

Washington —(AP)— Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas today placed high priority on consideration of President Eisenhower's housing bill veto. He indicated no decision had been reached on whether to try to override the White House turnaround.

"We are exploring with appropriate committee members on what we can do to get some housing built," Johnson said. "That's what the people want."

Eisenhower, in vetoing the big housing bill, called it extravagant, excessive and inflationary.

"We want to see if we can reconcile the conflicting viewpoints," Johnson told newsmen.

Want Vote on Record

Some Democrats are urging that congress attempt to override the veto—a move that would require a two-thirds majority in each chamber. Even if this failed, these Democrats reasoned, it would put them forcibly on record as favoring expansion of federal housing programs.

Others suggested reshaping housing legislation to meet Eisenhower's protests.

Sen. Paul H. Douglas (D-Ill.) said Eisenhower's veto showed that Democrats had adopted the wrong strategy in cutting down total outlays from those originally voted by the senate and house.

"It was supposed to be vetoed when we sent it to him, but the proofing didn't work very well," Douglas told a reporter. "We would have done better to send him a stronger bill, to make the issue clear."

The $1,375,000,000 bill Eisenhower rejected yesterday was cut down from larger programs passed separately by the house and senate. But most of the cut was accomplished by limiting it to two years, leaving the annual spending rate much higher than Eisenhower asked.

Douglas and Sen. Joseph S. Clark (D-Pa.), both advocates of broad housing legislation, said they hoped the senate leadership would call for a vote on overriding the veto even if the effort falls short of the necessary two-thirds.

"We ought to make the try," said Clark. "It will be a big help to use in states where this is an important issue."

Carolinas Alerted For Hurricane Peril

Miami —(AP)— A hurricane watch was ordered for the Carolinas today from Cape Hatteras south almost to the Georgia line.

Tropical storm Cindy, carrying top winds of 70 m.p.h., was about 110 miles east of Charleston, S. C., at 11 a.m. and appeared to be moving steadily west northwestward at about 5 m.p.h. The center is expected to move inland a little north of Charleston this evening.

Intensification to full hurricane force of 74 m.p.h. was considered possible during the day.

South St. Paul Trucker Dies As Semi Skids

24-Year-Old Tossed Or Jumped From Cab As It Flipped Open

Duane Elwell, 24, South St. Paul, died at New London Community hospital shortly after he was thrown or jumped from his semi-trailer truck cab as it skidded on a viaduct on Highway 54 on the north side of New London about 7:10 a.m. today.

Elwell, driving a livestock carrier, was westbound when his cab hit a guard rail and skidded uphill, wedged against the rail and an 18-inch curbing. The cab of the tractor unit flipped forward, which may have tossed Elwell to the pavement, police said.

Tires Smoked

The truck cab was of the type which opens forward, exposing the motor and chassis for servicing. The entire cab flipped open, resting upside down on the roadway, ahead of the tractor chassis and trailer.

Elwell had internal injuries, a compound fracture of the right leg and a broken left leg. Passersby covered him with a blanket. Traffic was heavy at the scene.

A passing motorist called the New London fire department when he saw smoke coming from the truck's tires.

3 Youths Kidnap Girl In Fleeing Reformatory In West Virginia

New Martinsville, W. Va. —(AP)— Three teenage inmates of a reformatory kidnaped a young secretary yesterday and took her for an 80-mile ride, threatening to kill her if she resisted.

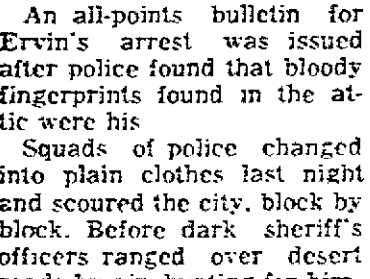

Eighteen-year-old Sandra Lynn McKenney was not harmed and the youths were captured less than five hours after their escape, as they tried to get food and money for a trip to Florida.

Larry Anthony Rector and Roger Lee Moore, both 16, and Patrick Jarrell, 17, were charged with kidnaping and grand larceny. The reformatory superintendent, Richard L. Young, said they would be given preliminary hearings aimed at abolishing big estates and the age-old system of unpaid labor.

Widespread Hunt in Nevada For Suspected Killer of Girl

Las Vegas, Nev. —(AP)— A missing girl—leading them to vast manhunt spread across two states today for a man whose bloody fingerprints were found beside the raped and knife-slashed body of 6-year-old Dolores Stafford. Her nude body was found yesterday in the attic of Robert K. Ervin's Las Vegas home. She had been stabbed in the stomach and her throat had been cut.

U. S. Wings to be Taken to Britain and Germany Due To Dispute With De Gaulle

BY GEORGE McARTHUR

Paris —(AP)— Three fighter-bomber wings of the U. S. Air Force will soon be moved from French bases to fields in Britain and Germany, the United States announced today.

U. S. Ambassador to NATO W. Randolph Burgess made the decision known at a meeting of the North Atlantic council.

Not Retaliation

The move had been generally expected because President Charles de Gaulle will not agree to storing U. S. atomic arms on French soil.

The transfer to British and German bases will involve 200 fighter-bombers which have been assigned atomic missions in case of war. The move is to be started immediately and will be completed before the end of the summer.

American officials emphasized that the action was no sort of retaliation against the French.

In the American view the French refusal to allow atomic stockpiles had made it impossible for the planes to fulfill their mission from French bases.

The shift to bases where atomic stockpiles would be close at hand therefore was the only logical military procedure, officials said.

No French Comment

The 1st Royal Canadian Air division will be the sole major NATO air unit left on French soil.

The French have refused to commit their air force to an integrated NATO air defense in Europe, except for planes it assigned to tactical NATO support in Germany.

The Canadians are soon to be re-equipped with about 75 supersonic Lockheed F104 jets to replace their Sabres. The Canadian units then may be given interception and defense missions.

Tennis Club Bars Bunche And His Son

New York —(AP)— The New York Post said today that Ralph Bunche, undersecretary of the United Nations and Nobel peace prize winner, has been notified that neither he nor his son could become members of the West Side Tennis club in Forest Hills.

The newspaper said Wilfred Burglund, the president, informed Bunche, a Negro, that the club excludes Negroes and Jews from membership.

Burglund reportedly said it was a private club, the same as a person's home, where "you can invite whom you want to."

The Post said: Bunche's son, Ralph, Jr., began taking lessons last April from the club's pro, George Agutter, who suggested that the boy become a junior member.

Bunche, Sr., telephoned Burglund, who said that memberships are not by application, but by invitation only.

Bunche replied that his son's high school friends, who are members, would extend the invitation.

Burglund told Bunche that if the club were to take in a Negro, there would be two or three hundred resignations.

Bunche replied that he would be willing to take a sizeable bet on that.

Urges Industry, Union to Try To Avert Strike

Won't Intervene In Steel Talks, President Says

Washington —(AP)— President Eisenhower today called on management and workers in the steel wage talks to act for the good of the country and try hard to avoid a strike.

Eisenhower told a news conference that both sides should keep on negotiating just as long as is necessary for agreement on a new contract.

The Steelworkers union has agreed to hold off on any strike until next Tuesday night, but Union President David J. McDonald said yesterday there would be no further extension of the strike deadline.

No U. S. Intervention

Eisenhower, in response to a question, said he plans no government intervention.

The president recalled that on June 27 he urged both sides to continue contract talks, without interruption of production, until a new contract had been negotiated.

The union then agreed to extend its July 1 strike deadline until July 14.

Eisenhower noted that he did not suggest simply a two weeks extension but continuance of the talks until agreement was reached.

Today, the president said it is a pity that all of us can't proceed on the basic concept of what is good for the country — and not have a strike at all.

He repeated that the union and management should continue to talk.

Promises to Use All His Persuasive Powers to Get Increase in Funds

Washington —(AP)— President Eisenhower hinted broadly today he might call a special session of congress if he is denied the authority he wants for foreign aid spending.

Eisenhower was asked at his news conference for comment on the senate's action yesterday in voting to cut his mutual assistance request by $383½ million.

The president said he is going to use all of his persuasive powers in attempting to convince members of congress they will be ignoring the security of the nation and the vital interests of the free world if they reduce foreign aid too sharply.

In many instances, Eisenhower said, it is possible to get sufficient appropriations later if congress fails originally to provide enough funds to carry on the program.

The senate is working on a bill to authorize the expenditure of funds which are to be provided later. This bill in effect sets a ceiling on foreign aid appropriations.

Against New Cuts

Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas earlier had spoken out in an effort to head off further senate cuts in the aid bill.

Eisenhower said if the authorization is reduced to the point where he can't go back to congress next year for what he considers sufficient funds to carry out the program, he will have only one

4 Drown in Pennsylvania

Fifth Saved in Tragic Aftermath Of Picnic on River

York, Pa. —(AP)— Five boys took one last romp in the Susquehanna river yesterday while their parents prepared to go home after a picnic. Four of them drowned.

State police said the boys apparently waded off a ledge into water over their heads and were swept downstream by the swift current.

Three of the victims were brothers — Maurice Archdeacon, Jr., 11; James, 9, and Jon, 7. The fourth was Michael Schwartz, 7. His 9-year-old brother, Charles, Jr., was saved.

The Archdeacons had rowed ashore with their other child and the Schwartz's other child. Mrs. Schwartz was already ashore.

As Archdeacon started back for Schwartz and the boys, he heard screams for help. When he reached the island, Schwartz was in the water, frantically trying to find the boys. He had saved his son Charles, but couldn't reach the others.

No New Delay, Union States

Refuses Indefinite Extension of Present Steel Contracts

New York —(AP)— The Steelworkers union today rejected President Eisenhower's renewed request for an indefinite extension of steel contracts beyond their scheduled expiration at midnight July 14.

David J. McDonald, union president, said: "We are confident that the president does not intend that we negotiate forever."

"If there is good faith on the company's part we can conclude an agreement by 12:01 a.m. July 15."

"Every period of negotiations must have a terminal point. This is the one that has been agreed upon by the parties."

Eisenhower renewed at his news conference in Washington today a plea that both sides continue negotiating without a strike for as long a time as is necessary to reach a peaceful settlement.

The president first suggested that course in a letter to McDonald on June 27. The union complied to the extent that it agreed with the steel companies to a two-week extension of contracts originally due to expire on July 1, to the midnight July 14 present expiration date.

Former Head of Cuban Air Force Admitted to U. S.

Miami —(AP)— Immigration Director Edward P. Ahrens today announced Maj. Pedro Luis Diaz Lanz, resigned commander of the Cuban air force, has been admitted to the United States as a resident alien.

Ahrens issued this statement: "Major Diaz Lanz, accompanied by his wife, applied for admission to the United States on July 1, 1959, at Miami, Fla., at which port they had arrived directly from Cuba aboard a small private boat."

"Following examinations yesterday, he has been admitted as a resident alien and she has been paroled. He has requested that his whereabouts not be revealed at this time."

Ahrens would make no further comment. He declined to give any hint as to Diaz's whereabouts.

The former Cuban military leader has been accused by his successor, Maj. Juan Almeida, of desertion, treason, robbery and dealing with members of ex-dictator Fulgencio Batista's regime.

Khrushchev Claims Russia Asks Peace

Tells American Governors That Friendship Between Soviets, U. S. Necessary to Avoid War

By Morris W. Rosenberg
 Moscow — (U) — Premier Khrushchev told seven American governors yesterday that friendship between the United States and the Soviet Union is the key to world peace. Khrushchev said the Soviet Union "wants peace with all nations, but above all with the biggest and strongest—the United States of America. "If there is friendship between us, there can never be nation started a war, Russia and the United States together could halt it.

"But if the United States and the Soviet Union are ever in a conflict," he continued, "the result would be terrible calamity, because if we fight, no force on earth could ever halt us."

Aware of Problem

Khrushchev said he believes this is realized by both American and Soviet leaders. Asked by Florida Gov. LeRoy Collins, who heads the delegation, for a message for President Eisenhower and the American people, Khrushchev expressed hope for agreements on termination of nuclear weapon tests, a German peace treaty and settlement of the Berlin question.

He said the United States and the Soviet Union "can apparently come to terms" on a nuclear test ban.

End Arms Race

He said his government thinks agreements on a German peace treaty and Berlin would open the way to disarmament and added, "we sincerely want disarmament, even up to the complete destruction of all arms."

Later in the talk, however, Khrushchev stood fast on Soviet demands for Germany and Berlin which the western allies have repeatedly rejected. He said both west and east Germany should be recognized and normal relations established and that West Berlin should be made a free city guaranteed by all countries and the United Nations.

Alarm Out For Financier In Swindle

New York — (U) — An international alarm is out for a will-o'-the-wisp financial figure, accused of a multimillion-dollar stock swindle.

The man sought is a 52-year-old attorney, Lowell M. Birrell.

Dist. Atty. Frank S. Hogan said yesterday that Birrell has reportedly been seen in Havana, Montreal, Paris, Caracas, Guatemala city and other cities abroad since he disappeared late in 1957.

Just before his disappearance, said Hogan, a federal court bench warrant was issued for his arrest. Yesterday he was indicted on 69 counts of grand larceny.

The stockholders lost 14 million dollars, Hogan said, but he said Birrell got only three million for himself.

Hogan said Birrell was a "night club habitue and a heavy spender," and that he left his third wife and three children in Switzerland.

Birrell is a former president of Swan-Finch Oil corporation, a former director of the Swan-Finch Gas Development corporation and a former board chairman of Doeskin Products, Inc.

Hogan said the stockholders of Swan-Finch Oil corporation and Doeskin were defrauded of 14 million dollars.

Hogan said Birrell's operations caused Doeskin's stock to plummet from $10 a share to $1 a share. It is now selling at $2.

Says Russian Premier Worse Than Stalin

Harriman Describes Talk With Nikita In Magazine Story

New York — (U) — W. Averell Harriman describes his recent talks with Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev as "terrifying, shocking, worse than Stalin."

His account is carried in the current issue of Life magazine. But the quotation above, according to Life, was contained in Harriman's report to Washington.

Harriman is a former New York governor and a former ambassador to Moscow.

Blunt Language

In his signed article in the magazine Harriman says Khrushchev told him, in "blunt and brutal language" that:

"Your generals talk of maintaining your position in Berlin with force. That is bluff. If you send in tanks, they will burn, and make no mistake about it. If you want war, you can have it, but remember it will be your war. Our rockets will fly automatically."

Life also reported that Harriman told Washington that the Soviet premier said Russia has shipped numerous rockets to red China. These have been planted behind the coastline, according to the report, but have the range to blast the nationalist fortress of Formosa.

No Change

Harriman said Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko will be just as stubborn and inflexible when the Geneva talks resume July 13 as he was before the talks adjourned.

Harriman declared he is convinced that there should be a summit conference, and that the west should seize every opportunity to deal directly with the pudgy premier, "since he alone determines Soviet foreign policy."

Harriman said another reason for a summit conference, particularly if held in the United States, would be to inform Khrushchev about conditions outside his own country, an area where Harriman found the Soviet leader "profoundly ignorant."

GOP Committee Gives $15,000 to Campaign Coffers

Madison — (U) — The state GOP Voluntary committee contributed $15,000 Tuesday to the 1960 election campaign organization formed by Republican lawmakers in the legislature.

Sen. Robert Travis of Platteville, chairman of the group, said the campaign organization would encourage well qualified persons to run in GOP primaries for the legislature in 1960.

Other members of the group include Assemblymen William Hutnik, Tony Jerris Leonard, Milwaukee, and David Blanchard Edgerton; Sens. Frank Panzer, Brownsville and Jess Miller, Richland Center.

Marines Land

Milwaukee Beach Site Of Mock Battleground

Milwaukee — (U) — McKinley beach—the summertime parade ground of muscular men and shapely young women—was turned into a battleground today as 1,500 U.S. marines pounded ashore in a mock amphibious assault. The invasion came one day after the royal yacht Britannia sailed past the same Lake Michigan shore area carrying Queen Elizabeth north after her visit to Chicago.

The queen and Prince Philip did not appear but were given a tooting welcome by a score of small boats from Milwaukee yacht clubs. After a neatly executed maneuver by escorting destroyers, the ships moved away. A few hours later, this message was received from the Britannia: "Mayor, City of Milwaukee: Queen and Duke of Edinburgh much appreciate the cordial greetings sent to them this morning on behalf of the citizens of Milwaukee. Please convey the sincere thanks of Her Majesty and His Royal Highness to them."

The queen's tour of the Great Lakes and the marine assault are part of the celebration saluting the opening of the St. Lawrence Seaway.

Assembly Kills Nelson's Plan To Raise Funds

Tax Package Dealt Setback; Vote Upsets Democratic Leaders

Madison — (U) — The Democratic-controlled assembly dealt Gov. Gaylord Nelson a setback Tuesday by killing his proposal to raise $1,250,000 through a change in the bank tax.

Democratic leaders, visibly upset by the 50-49 vote in which eight party members defected, hurriedly called a recess to hold a strategy huddle.

When the house reconvened, George Sokolowski (D-Milwaukee) moved reconsideration of the vote. It was expected enough stray votes will be corralled to pass the bill when it comes up again.

The measure is part of the governor's $12,083,000 tax package introduced late in the session. Opposition from Republicans and some Democrats have forced scrapping of the bulk of the package.

One bill in the group, however, was given a whopping 94-4 approval vote and sent to the senate. It would collect $592,000 during the biennium by boosting student fees at

50-Year-Old Woman Accused in Warrant of Being Robber of Bank

Denies Taking Money; Bandit Thought Disguised Man at Time

Milwaukee — (U) — A 50-year-old woman was accused in a federal warrant Tuesday night of being the disguised bandit — believed at the time to be a man in woman's dress — who robbed a bank of $2,650 last week. She denied the robbery.

The victimized teller had described the grotesque made-up robber as "monstrous" and "drippy-looking" and said the bandit wore false silver hair and a trench coat.

Mrs. Evelyn Nacker was the nine state colleges. Resident tuition would be increased $20 a year and non-resident tuition $50 under the bill.

Three bills in the package that would have boosted revenues for the next two years a total of $8,248,000 recently were recommended for rejection by the joint finance committee.

The bill offering changes in the tax on banks would discontinue a state income tax provision which permits deductions from taxable income of costs of producing non-taxable income.

Milwaukee police had been warned by telephone of a bank robbery and for three days had maintained special details in all city banks. They were withdrawn the day before the actual holdup.

Pair Admits Racing Near Pierce Park

Appleton Youth, Menasha Man Drive At High Speed

An Appleton youth and a Menasha man have admitted racing in the vicinity of the Pierce park July 4 civic celebration.

Clifford F. Schultz, 16, 308 E. Glendale avenue, was ordered to pay court costs of $2.95 and his driver's license was revoked for six months. Municipal Judge Oscar J. Schmiede stayed the last five months of the revocation on condition Schultz is not arrested within the next year for a moving traffic violation.

Harold Berg, 28, 528 1/2 Water street, Menasha, was fined $50 for racing and $40 for driving without a driver's license. The racing offense will cost Schultz and Berg six points each against their driving records, the license charge will cost Berg four more points. Berg was jailed when he couldn't pay his fine.

The pair was arrested after Appleton police saw them driving at high rates of speed on Summit, Fourth and Mueller streets near Pierce park Saturday.

Miss Doris I. Ritchie, 538 N. Garfield street, was fined $15 and charged four points for driving without a license Sunday when she hit a parked car in the 600 block of W. College avenue.

His car hit a parked auto about 1:10 a.m. Judge Schmiede stayed the revocation on condition Schwalbach is not arrested for a moving traffic violation in the next year.

Hawaii's Tribute to the United States

"Statehood No ka Oi" (Statehood Is Best for All) is the title of an article by Roy E. Brown, director of the Tax Foundation of Hawaii, which appeared in the Honolulu Advertiser shortly after President Eisenhower signed the act which enabled Hawaii to be admitted to the union as a state. Brown thinks it is doubtful if any government ever received tribute comparable to that paid by the people of Hawaii to the government of the United States by their 50 years of unflinching desire to become a part of the United States.

It is easy to understand how people from the eastern part of the United States migrated to the West and there established new states as a part of the Union, but it is pointed out in this instance that Hawaii's people are from racial groups very different from most of the people in the United States. The majority are of Asiatic origin with completely different concepts of both the organization and functions of government. Nevertheless, because they had seen the functioning of the government of the United States and had come to understand it, they had the desire to be a part of it.

He notes that after World war I the idea of self-determination as expressed by President Wilson developed a world-wide desire among many peoples to attain independence and freedom from other governments. As a result many European countries including Holland, England and France were compelled to yield varying degrees of independence to their colonies in Africa and Asia. The United States has granted independence to some island possessions which desired it. It might have been expected that the people of Hawaii would have asked for independence or at least some sort of commonwealth status which would permit them to have the protection of the United States while managing their own affairs. But as Brown says, "For over 50 years, Hawaii has been a possession of the United States. At no time during this long period have the people as a whole deviated from their major objective of becoming a state."

The consistent stand taken by the people of Hawaii is an indication of strong, independent, competent people. They not only ask for their rights as a state but also their full share of the responsibility of becoming a state. They are not afraid of the competition of other states or of the people in them. In fact they welcome it and are asking nothing more than the right to be on an equal footing with the others. The Hawaiians indicated this firmly in the recent election in which they voted 17 to 1 to accept the statehood offered by the American government. As Brown puts it, "The people of the 49 other states should be . . . proud . . . their government has been weighed in the balance and not found wanting."

The Hawaiians know very well that American citizenship is all that anyone joining this nation could ask and all that even the mighty United States can give. Their attitude should afford an interesting study for the people in other areas of the world who are trying to bait the United States into doing something for them by threatening to join the Soviet bloc.

Decrease in Numbers No Reason To Believe Communism Is Dying

Editor, Post-Crescent:

I have just listened to a broadcast on the state station of "The American Communist Party" by David A. Shannon, associate professor of History, U of Wisconsin, the main theme of which seemed to be that communism in the U. S. is on a decline and is but a feeble shell.

However, the recently (August 22, 1958) released Report of American Bar association special committee on communist tactics, strategy, and objectives gives some current fallacies about communism:

"So much misinformation is current about communism that it is appropriate to expose some of the major fallacies.

1. "Communism in the U. S. is dwindling in power because the party is dwindling in numbers." This popular belief shows a complete misunderstanding of Leninism. Lenin's great contribution to communism was his principle of the dedicated few. This is how Lenin was about to establish communism with only 17 supporters and to take over Russia with only 40,000.

"The real strength of communism in the U. S. is the number of non-communist organizations and individuals who will collaborate with the communists. For every communist party member, there may be 100 non-communists who will do the work of the communists.

2. "The communist party is just another political party." It has been indisputably established that the Communist Party U. S. A. is not just a minor political party. Chief Justice Vinson rightly described the communist party as "a highly organized conspiracy, with rigidly disciplined members subject to call when the leaders felt that the time had come for action."

3. "Poverty breeds communism." This is the false "stomach" theory of communism. Communism is not a disease caused by an empty stomach; it is a disease of the mind and soul. Communism does not originate with the poor, the uneducated, the exploited, or the working class. Every major world communist figure who became a communist in a non-communist country did so as a student intellectual, materialistic in philosophy and atheistic in faith.

4. "The only alternative to peaceful co-existence is world war III with nuclear destruction of our cities." The communists do not want to destroy us or our cities. A dead man is useless as a slave laborer.

"The only alternative is not world war III. Another alternative is a declaration of independence for the satellites and oppressed peoples of Russia. The Kremlin would not embark upon a foreign war if it had or was threatened with a strong independence movement behind the Iron Curtain.

The communist master plan for world conquest was stated by Lenin in these words: "First, we will take Eastern Europe. then the masses of Asia, then we will encircle the United States, which will be the last bastion of capitalism. We will not have to attack. It will fall like an overripe fruit into our hands."

On our American television screens on June 2, 1957, Khrushchev told us: "Your grandchildren will live under socialism." William Z. Foster dedicated his book, The Twilight of World Capitalism, to his great-grandson, "who will live in a Communist United States."

Looking Backward

County School Head Has Mishap

79 YEARS AGO

Quoted from the Appleton Crescent for the week of July 10, 1880.

Our County Superintendent, Mr. John A. Leith, on his return home from the city Wednesday about 10 p. m. in a buggy, ran off a dangerous bank by the side of the road opposite Mr. Meidam's residence in the Town of Grand Chute. Horse, buggy and all were precipitated to the bottom of the gully and the wonder is that Mr. Leith was not killed outright as the drop was all of six feet.

It has been a regular man-trap for nearly a year. Why do not our Grand Chute road authorities see to such dangerous places, and apply the remedy?

10 YEARS AGO

Wednesday, July 6, 1949

With the appointment of Ruth Zimney as instructor in physical education and Maurice L. Branch as lecturer in economics, the Lawrence college faculty was completed for the coming year. President Nathan M. Pusey announced that day.

H. J. Weller topped all scores to win the master's individual trophy at the Menasha Lakeland tournament of the Wisconsin and Upper Michigan Bridge association, a unit of the American Contract Bridge League.

Phil Haas and Bill Alger, Kaukauna Athletic club pitcher and first baseman, respectively, were the only unanimous choices for the Fox Valley Baseball League's All-Star team which was to play the Menasha Merchants.

Still Can't Find Good Men for Top State Jobs

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

Madison — A problem in state government that is rarely talked about in public but which is real and dangerous is the difficulty all governors recently have had in recruiting for the top administrative positions.

Gov. Nelson now is encountering it, somewhat to his own surprise.

Perhaps it can be illustrated most clearly by the fact that not a single candidate has made himself known through his own application for several of the top-ranking department commands that are available for his appointment during his first term.

Nelson's predecessors found the same problem. Gov. Kohler, for one, was extremely frustrated by it. Gov. Rennebohm became so annoyed at the task of screening out second-raters from the applicants that he turned more and more frequently to the civil service for minor bureaucrats who could safely, if not with distinction, be elevated into the top positions.

HOW IT CAME

To a degree this phenomenon is a natural one, resulting from the political revolution of the times.

There was a time when the reasonably informed could name some of the principal heads of the big state regulatory agencies.

Today these men are almost anonymous. The electoral focus is on Washington. The expanding federal power has eroded the concept of state sovereignty and the spirit of state political enterprise and responsibility.

But there are other considerations that are under the control of the state that are involved in the steadily declining appeal of the chief state administrative offices.

One of them is the simple one of reward. The plain and unimpeachable fact is that the legislature has been so niggardly about paying its officers that first rate men have lost all interest in them, and must be dragooned into service through an appeal to their civic duty.

When these dispatches started a couple of decades ago a state department head might earn six or seven thousand a year. A capital stenographer earned $100, and felt she was well paid. Today the lesser functionaries have had their pay tripled and quadrupled in many instances. Their chiefs, however, have been less fortunate. Time after time in recent years governors have been flatly turned down by men of ordinary standing in the business and professional community who demonstrably couldn't afford the sacrifice in taking a high prestigious and honorable state office that their grandfathers would have prized.

DETERIORATION

The skeptic may reply that the offices always manage to have occupants. There is always a subordinate in the ranks willing enough. Some of these men are outstanding. Most of them are expert. But the close observer tends to be worried about inbreeding in the public services. A responsive government requires an infusion of fresh thought and attitude constantly. There is no one quite as remote from the public opinion as the professional bureaucrat.

But such representations to the legislature are quite useless. The average legislator will trip over himself in his eagerness to raise the pay of the janitors and clerks, never sparing a thought for the fact that the quality of administration is made by the top officials.

After a couple of decades of making do with less than the best talent of the community, there must be a gradual deterioration in the spirit and quality of the public services.

Lamprey on Way Out of Great Lakes

From Michican Conservation

It is quite possible one of the most dramatic conservation stories of all time is being written, right now.

It is the story of the control of the sea lamprey.

This scourge of the Great Lakes fisheries appears to be on the way out. Possibly, nay probably, the slithering devil is being brought under control.

True, it is dangerous to be presumptuous in affairs of research. But certainly you can be hopeful when you see thousands of the dead critters in waters of a chemically-treated stream; and when you see game fish as lively as ever in those same waters; and when you see the critical eyes of scientists light up at the sight.

The story of the sea lamprey reminds us of other conservation stories, less dramatic perhaps, but certainly not less significant. There are the stories of research in game management, fish management, land management, forestry, forest fire control, geology — unending stories being written day in and day out, quietly and without excitement.

They tell of many things, these stories. They tell of an almost constant supply of game for the bag and fish for the creel despite a relentless pressure from a rocketing population. They temper concern over such things as a temporary drop in grouse numbers. They tell of better deer herds; of pheasants, or brown or rainbow trout in a state where once these creatures didn't exist. They tell of millions of acres of forests on what one day was denuded land; and of complicated machines and methods to protect these forests. There are stories of the discovery and control of underground resources.

There is mention of devoted people at work; people for whom recognition is all too scarce and criticism, at times, all too unwarranted.

Regular as the Mail

Richmond, Va. — (AP) — Chippy, a Chihuahua, is just as regular as the mailman at the Ernest M. Hunters. The tiny dog meets mailman Wilson Brown every day between 10:30 and 11 a.m., takes the mail and carries it in. If there isn't any mail, she is given a piece of paper so there will be no disappointment.

Golf Before Flying?

In the scramble to shoot bigger and better missiles into outer space the United States Air Force has not overlooked new techniques in the inter-service hassle for more funds. We cite one example:

The Air Force's new $200 million academy at Colorado Springs has blossomed into a thriving base designed to produce future officers and pilots for a very important branch of service in this jet age. The Air Force Times says the academy is the "best duty base" in the service. Some of the high points, the publication points out, are air-conditioned administration buildings with big picture windows looking out on the nearby mountains, a cadet gymnasium, a community center, a multi-purpose area containing eight bowling alleys, an indoor swimming pool and a partly-finished 18-hole golf course.

Add "300 sunny days a year" along with an invigorating climate and you have a fairly nice place to be stationed.

Bids soon will be opened on the chapel contract. A 40,000-seat football stadium is seen in the future for Air Academy football games. All this has sprung out of remote land into one of "America's real show-places," as the Times puts it.

But now, the Air Force wails, the academy needs an airfield. They have requested more (about $25 millions) to build this very necessary facility. What, they argue, is most important to an Air Academy designed to turn out pilots and officers for our high-flying branch of service? An airfield, of course. And they are right.

Their method of getting one, however, leaves much to be desired. Golfing facilities took precedence to the base. Picture windows came first. This is an example of how the Air Force, while shooting missiles into space, also is not lagging when it comes to "skyrocketing" taxpayers' money.

The air base was supposed to have been included in the first appropriation of funds. It was never built. But, the Wall Street Journal points out, "a $50,000 lavish lavatory facility for visiting guests was." Tongue-in-cheek, the Journal says our country would do well if a war ever came if the Air Force's victory in the fund-battle was any indication of its competence.

We feel there should be no quibbling over the request for an airfield — it is a necessary facility. But in the future Congress should see to it that necessary facilities are built before the "frills." Building a golf course with money from an original appropriation and then asking for more money to build an air field is sheer arrogance on the part of the Air Force — and it should be told so.

The Voice of the Frog

We are reluctant to scoff at any endeavor undertaken by American scientists and, indeed, evidence is ample that to do so is risky.

But our reticence has been shaken by an Associated Press dispatch from Middletown, Conn., reporting a Wesleyan university sophomore's forthcoming junket to Mexico to study the croaking sounds of frogs.

Phillip Colbert, Leonia, N. J., wants to find out if a frog has a different croak for each mood. Upon completion of his mission he will issue a record entitled "Sounds of Mexican Frogs."

This, ostensibly, comes under the heading of promoting the progress of science, since that is the avowed purpose of the tax-supported National Science foundation which is sponsoring the foray.

In the wildest wonderings of our imagination, we fail to see how the croaking of moody Mexican frogs will serve the advancement of science. Beyond a certain aesthetic value, the worth of such a venture appears to be almost nil unless, of course, we stand on the threshold of thrillingly exciting discoveries in vocal development.

But we are inclined to think this is not the case. On the surface, at least, this appears to be another of the highly questionable ventures to which the American tax dollar is sometimes assigned.

We must rank it, in fact, alongside the incident outlined in a congressional hearing some months ago in which U. S. foreign aid funds were being expended to construct bathhouses along the Nile river for nomadic Arab camel drivers.

It is our view, therefore, that if we must record the voices of nature, why not tape the utterings of the American Eagle and the Russian Bear on the off-chance they speak something of the same language?

The bird and the bear might, after all, succeed where the foreign ministers failed.

Power Plants Operated by Bureaucrats

The city of New York has sold three power plants, which it used to supply power to the transit authority's subway lines, to the Consolidated Edison company for $125 millions. What does the utility get for this money? It gets the three power plants and a contract to sell power to the transit authority, but the plants are practically useless for the utility has announced it will continue in use only the new equipment in two Manhattan powerhouses and it may not use any of it for very long.

In reporting the transaction the New York World-Telegram and Sun remarked that "the closings would be good news for those who breathe, hang out laundry or park light colored automobiles anywhere near the plants. The transit powerhouses are the worst offenders in turning out soot and other air-pollutants."

Thus it appears that closing down of the municipally-operated plants will bring the city $125 millions, it will clear the air of soot and smoke to a considerable degree and will give the utility a new customer and the transit authority a better source of power than it has had in many long years. It looks like a good deal for everyone concerned.

Dulles Island To be Shrine Of Friendship

From the Buffalo Evening News

When the pressure of one of the most formidable jobs in the world allowed, the late Sec. of State Dulles and Mrs. Dulles found privacy and relaxation on their own Duck Island in eastern Lake Ontario. It was a cherished retreat. In death, it is, not surprising that Dulles has made a very personal contribution to the international friendship he sought so long in more distant parts of the world. A special bequest gives the island to the people of Canada.

The intrinsic value of remote Duck Island — 3 1/2 miles long and 2 of a mile wide — isn't great. It is uninhabited except for a lighthouse keeper, a few deer and a multitude of birds which were Dulles' special delight. But the gesture has deeply stirred his heirs — the Canadian people. A movement is already under way to preserve his walled sanctuary with its simple log cabin in its natural state with appropriate international marking — "a shrine of international friendship," as the Toronto Telegram urges. And what could be a more appreciative gesture than to rename it Dulles Island, a suggestion under consideration by the government at Ottawa?

Sweeping Changes in Dog Pound Fees Asked

Committee Urges Higher Charges in Claiming Strays

It'll cost a lot more to redeem stray dogs from the city pound if recommendations of the public safety committee are approved by the common council.

The committee has endorsed sweeping changes in dog pound's fee system after conferring with Dog Officer Walter Weber.

Most of the recommendations are Weber's. He said he compiled them after talking with Mayor Mitchell.

The committee action is the first in what is expected to be a series of recommendations asking the council to increase city fees and charges of all kinds. It is the result of a resolution by Ald. Mrs. Stillings and an order by the finance committee.

Now an owner must prove the dog has a license and then must pay $1 plus 25 cents a day board in order to redeem his dog from the pound.

If the council approves on July 15, ordinances would be amended to require:

1. Proof of a dog license. The license charge would remain the same, $1 for males and spayed females and $2 for unsplayed females.
2. Board of $1 a day for large dogs and 50 cents a day for small dogs.
3. Payment of $3 to claim the dog, and an additional $2 if the dog has not been licensed. If the dog is licensed, but is not carrying the tag, an additional $1 would be charged. The penalty charges are in addition to the requirement that a license must be purchased.

The committee also is recommending that owners pay $1 to have Weber dispose of their dog or cat. Weber presently makes no charge, but veterinarians commonly receive $3 for the work.

Expect State Cherry Output To Show Hike

Wisconsin cherry production is expected to be 50 percent larger than last year, according to the federal-state crop reporting service for Wisconsin.

Cherry production in the state on June 1 was estimated to be 12,000 tons compared with only 8,000 tons harvested in 1958. This year's cherry production is expected to be below the 1948-57 average of 15,000 tons.

Production forecasts for other states show Wisconsin's crop will rank third with Michigan's crop ranking first and New York's second. Last year Wisconsin ranked fourth in sour cherry production.

Cherry production in the Great Lakes states of New York, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Michigan, and Wisconsin is expected to be almost 40 percent larger than the small 1958 crop. The six western states of Montana, Idaho, Colorado, Utah, Washington, and Oregon are expected to have a smaller cherry production than a year ago.

Total cherry production in the 11 producing states this year is expected to be almost one-third larger than the 1958 harvest.

Charge of Murder Dismissed After Another Confesses

Los Angeles — Because conscience finally compelled another woman to talk, Mrs. Mabel Carroll won't stand trial for murder today.

Mrs. Carroll, 53, was under indictment as an accomplice in the death of a 16-year-old bride who had undergone illegal surgery.

Wednesday, July 8, 1959 Appleton Post-Crescent A5

Yesterday Mrs. Michael Smythe, a 36-year-old platinum blonde, appeared in municipal court and declared under oath that it was she—not Mrs. Carroll—who delivered the pregnant bride to a man in North Hollywood. The man, Edgar Schrater, 36, is accused of performing the illegal operation on the girl.

Mrs. Smythe, a writer who lives in Beverly Hills, said Schrater had called her earlier in the day and asked her to pick up young Mrs. Brenda Emerson and bring her to him as a favor. Mrs. Smythe said Schrater called her later that night and told her the bride had died of an overdose of anesthetic.

Big TV Money Lures More Top Film Stars

Newcomers Include
Robert Taylor in Detective Series

BY BOB THOMAS

Hollywood — This fall will see the biggest invasion of television by top movie names in the history of the medium.

With the 1959-60 season pretty well shaped up, the schedule of new shows indicates a stellar turnout.

Stars who can still draw top money in films are turning to the series grind.

The lure is obvious: Security. They need only observe the fortunes earned by Loretta Young, Jane Wyman, Lucille Ball, Dick Powell, David Niven and others who got into TV. The important factor is not the salaries, but ownership of the series. This can amount to an annuity.

Newcomer List

Here are some of the newcomers:
• "Robert Taylor's Detectives" on ABC with Taylor playing a captain of detectives in a typical American city. He will appear in all the shows, following through on six of the cases and assigning underling detectives to the rest.

"June Allyson Theater" on CBS is an anthology show with Miss Allyson as hostess and part-time star.

In "Whispering Smith" (NBC), Audie Murphy stars as a detective in the first city police force in the west. Guy Mitchell plays his sidekick.

"The Deputy" (NBC) will star Henry Fonda with Allan Case, Wallace Ford and Betty Lou Keim in a western adventure show.

In "Wichita Town" (NBC), Joel McCrea plays the marshal with son Jody as his friend, a foreman on a frontier ranch.

"Barbara Stanwyck Theater" has been planned by NBC, though a time hasn't been scheduled. It's another anthology, with Miss Stanwyck appearing in 18 of the 26 shows.

Newlyweds Jacques Charrier, 23, and Brigitte Bardot, 24, pose outside her father's home. The French film stars were married in the town hall of Louveciennes, a suburb of Paris, by the town's mayor.

'Lonely Boy' Continues As Fox Cities' Top Tune

'Battle of New Orleans' Slips
To Third, Still First in U. S.

BY DICK DISC

Paul Anka's ballad "Lonely Boy" continues to be tops in the Fox Cities for the third straight week. Another top contender for the number one spot is Carl Dopkins Jr.'s version of "My Heart Is An Open Book" which has moved into the runner-up spot this week.

It is interesting to note that both singers with top records, Dopkins and Anka, are teenagers.

New tunes on the chart this week include "Robbin' the Cradle" by Tony Bellus and Elvis Presley's "Big Hunk of Love."

Here's the top 10 picture:

1. "Lonely Boy" by Paul Anka.
2. "My Heart Is An Open Book" by Carl Dopkins Jr.
3. "Battle of New Orleans" by Johnny Horton.
4. "Lipstick On Your Collar" by Connie Francis.
5. "Waterloo" by Stone-wall Jackson.
6. "Robbin' the Cradle" by Johnny Bellus.
7. "Bongo Rock" by the Preston Epps.
8. "Bobby Sox to Stockings" by Frankie Avalon.
9. "Dream Lover" by Bob-bey Darin.
10. "A Big Hunk of Love" by Elvis Presley.

Top tune nationwide is still "Battle of New Orleans" and Lloyd Price's "Personality" remains in second place.

According to Cashbox magazine, ten years ago folks were humming "Baby, It's Cold Outside," and five years ago "I Get So Lonely" was a big one. Last year "Jennie Lee" was high on the chart.

Tune Review

Tunes up for review: "So Close to My Heart" by Kathy Linden. Another pretty ballad sung with Kathy's usual breathless lyrics. Her style is well-liked, and in this record she displays her usual warm feeling for a song. The other side is more of an up-tempo number called "You Don't Know Girls." Both numbers are tops.

"Mona Lisa" by Conway Twitty. Blend a pretty old tune with Twitty's modern beat and rockabilly singing and you come up with nothing. The tune has little merit and isn't worth more than one or two listens at most.

Ever since Johnny Horton's success with "Battle" there have been quite a few old marching tunes released. Some of the titles include "Waterloo," "Ten Thousand Drums," "Soldier's Joy," "Plaid and Calico," and others.

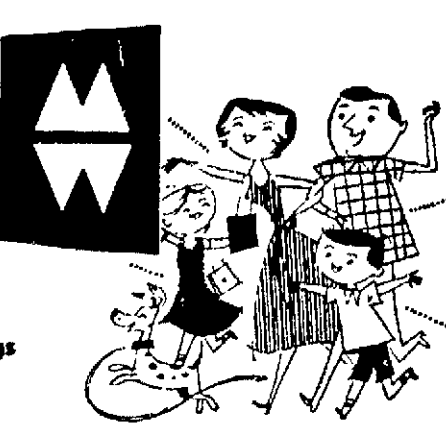

In the new album spotlight: "Show Stoppers from the Fabulous Fifties" with the David Carroll orchestra. Sparkling cover bedecks a sparkling album. Included in this album is a good selection of select tunes, like "Wish You Were Here," "You're Just in Love" and other big show numbers. All are done brightly with the help of the Carroll strings.

Menominee Plans Hit Another Snag

Trinke Insists on Restriction Providing for State Trusteeship

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

Madison — Sen W. F. Trinke is in a strategic position as chairman of a committee which has withheld some of the Indian legislative program when he listed another condition for his approval of bills to terminate federal wardship over the tribe.

Trinke told tribal representatives late Tuesday that he will insist on a restrictive

Indian Holdings May be Hiked

Washington — The interior department Tuesday submitted to congress a proposal to add nearly 350,000 acres to the land holdings of Indian tribes or communities. Three are in Wisconsin.

The Wisconsin Indian reservations and the acreage involved include Bad River, 13,069; Lac Courte Oreilles, 13,085 and Stockbridge, 13,077. The department said the submarginal lands are needed by the Indians in order to obtain maximum utilization of their tribal lands and in order to augment their other income.

covenant in the corporation deed, providing for a form of state trusteeship over the Indians' business affairs.

He wants a guarantee that the proposed tribal corporation won't be able to mortgage, sell or lease any of the Indians' forest lands, without the consent of the state government.

Trinke is in a strategic position as chairman of a committee which has withheld some of the Indian legislative program when he listed another condition for his approval of bills to terminate federal wardship over the tribe.

Tribal representatives including George Kenote were disappointed at the turn of events. They explained they thought they had reached an understanding with Trinke and other doubtful legislators last week when they accepted some amendments, including a key change providing for state purchase of individual shares when individuals desire to surrender them.

But Trinke yesterday insisted on his new point, claiming it is the only condition under which his committee will favor the legislation.

Indians Weary
The Menominee representatives protested that the members are becoming weary of legislative maneuverings, and that there also is no assurance that the department of interior will accept the Trinke plan.

Kenote, however, raced back to the reservation for consultation with the Menominee tribal council.

The result will be another delay in the legislative package, including the proposal for establishing a separate Menominee county.

Legislative Unit Cuts Patrol Request

Draheim Backed On Move to Chop Enforcement Funds

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

Madison — Ambitious officers of the enforcement division of the motor vehicle department, and particularly the state traffic patrol, were dismayed Tuesday when the powerful legislative finance committee without warning moved to cut their equipment and other capital fund requests by 25 per cent across the board.

The motion got a heavy vote of approval in the legislature's budget-writing committee when it was offered by Chairman W. A. Draheim of Neenah, a Republican, after critical interrogation of department spokesmen by Sen. Lynn Stalbaum of Racine, the committee's leading Democrat.

"I wonder how far you're going to go," rumbled Draheim after he discovered that the department was asking for an increase of about $700,000 in equipment expenditures for the next biennium.

Need Equipment
The department explained that it wants better and more radio equipment, to conform to the requirements of the Federal Communications Commission, 218 new cars for the traffic patrolmen to replace existing vehicles which are driven an average of more than 34,000 miles a year, and increase in the traffic patrol 10 station-wagons that will be

New York Considers Compulsory Building Of Bomb Shelters

Albany, N. Y. — Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller will sound out New York's congressional delegation on a proposal for compulsory construction of individual nuclear bomb shelters in New York state.

A Rockefeller task force recommended yesterday that home owners be required to build the shelters as a protection against radioactive fallout in case of nuclear attack.

A shelter would cost from $150, if the home owner built it himself, to $500 for a professional job, the group estimated.

The governor and the state defense council endorsed the plan in principle.

Action by the legislature would be required to carry it out.

put into use at truck weighing stations around the state, as well as a generous quota of other equipment items.

The enforcement division now has a total manpower of more than 400, including 250 uniformed patrolmen. The division has a car fleet equal to one per man.

The rejection of much of its money request by the legislature financiers was the second reversal of the year.

Earlier Gov. Nelson had trimmed requests considerably, deleting a proposed airplane purchase among other things. The airplane had been planned as a highway law enforcement tool, officials said. Meanwhile both the governor and legislators have place existing vehicles which studiously ignored the earlier request of the division for an increase in the traffic patrol strength by 100 men.

Eccentric Johnny Appleseed Gave Gifts of Kindness, Food to Pioneers

BY CHARLES HOUSE
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

One of America's humblest heroes—one John Chapman—would be regarded as a crackpot if he were alive today, but the sweet story of his odd and bizarre life is one of the finest in American history.

The crackpot is better known as Johnny Appleseed. In his own day people regarded him as being "a little touched in the head" but they tolerated him in good humor because he was a good, even though an odd, man.

It was just about this time of the year in 1801 that Johnny Appleseed floated down the Ohio river in a canoe laden with several hundred pounds of rotten apples. He was going to plant an orchard. He planted many of them throughout the midwest. There is no record that this quaint man ever traveled farther west than Casey, Ill., but there he left one of his living monuments — apple trees — some of which still are there on the Trimble farm.

60 Orchards

Whether or not it was this man's wish to help the world, no man can truly say, but it is known that during his lifetime he planted at least 60 orchards. And, as the American frontier moved west, the apples served their purpose well. Pioneers had little fruit except those in season, but Johnny Appleseed often gave them or sold them young trees to transport to the place of their choice. He sold these for his standard price — a five penny bit, and the trees are everywhere.

Johnny always carried apple seeds in a leather pouch which he would sell or exchange for a promissory note or a bit of discarded clothing. Since thousands of travelers met him on his peregrinations the apple seeds they procured from him surely must have grown in Wisconsin and surely must have descendants today.

Johnny's appearance, described by a contemporary, will justify the general opinion of his peculiarity. "Next to his body," wrote the contemporary, "he wore a coarse coffee sack with a hole cut in the center through which he passed his head. He had on the waists of four different pairs of pantaloons. These were cut off at the forks, ripped up the sides and the fronts were thrown away, though he saved and wore the waistbands. The rear parts were buttoned around him, overlapping like shingles so as to cover the lower part of his body, and over his legs and the waists were drawn a ragged pair of what once were pantaloons."

Wore a Mush Pot

It is also recorded that Johnny Appleseed often wore upon his head a mush pot. I suspect that he put it there for ease in carrying rather than for adornment. But Johnny was an odd one.

He believed, perhaps rightly so, that he would benefit in Heaven for the hardships he suffered on earth. He traveled at least 10,000 miles barefooted through midwestern forests as he roved to tend his widespread apple orchards. When he was home, he lived with a half-sister in Mansfield, Ohio.

He was a sturdy fellow who could walk many miles. He seldom wore shoes except during the coldest winters. Many folk tales have grown about his memory, but it is known that he considered himself a sort of "healer" and that he often carried self-manufactured medicines and herbs. He believed that dog fennel had medicinal properties and for'd "the winter plague," now this reason he did Wisconsin termed pneumonia, and he an unwitting disservice. He died aged about 70. Sewed seeds of this noxious weed everywhere he went.

Saved Mosquitoes

He was oddly kind, too. It is said that on one occasion he noted that mosquitoes were being killed in the flames of his camp fire. He put out the fire, saying, "God forbid that I should have a fire for my comfort which shall be the means of destroying any of His creatures."

He was intensely religious — fanatically so — and he often told strangers that they should gather around him and hear him because he was bringing them a message directly from the angels. He persisted in saying that the angels spoke to him on many occasions.

But quixotic or addled, John's contribution was a great one in that he planted apple trees which were to be a great boon to the early pioneers. Fresh apples were precious.

John Chapman was born either in Boston or Springfield, Mass., about 1775. In his boyhood, too, he was odd, for he often simply wandered away from home and stayed away for days at a time. The first full-fledged apple orchard he planted was at Steubenville, Ohio.

Died at 70

In 1845, Johnny went on a long trip to prune and care for his orchards. He was stricken with what was called "the winter plague," now termed pneumonia, and he died aged about 70. Soon after his death, Sen. Sam Houston of Texas — perhaps the first person to acclaim the strange fellow in public — said:

"This old man was one of the most useful citizens of the world in his own humble way. He has made a greater contribution to our civilization than we realize. He has left a place that can never be filled. Farewell, old eccentric heart! Your labor has been love, and generations yet unborn will rise up and call you blessed."

He was buried near Fort Wayne, Ind., at Archer's

Malik Predicts Berlin Stalemate

Houston — The Berlin situation likely will result in a stalemate with the west, granting Russia minor concessions, United Nations General Assembly President Dr. Charles Malik predicted Sunday.

"Some kind of adjustment will be made in order to graveyard, but strangely enough, America has almost forgotten that Johnny Appleseed was truly a man and not — as he has become — a legend akin to a fairy tale.

Wednesday, July 8, 1959 Appleton Post-Crescent A9 maintain the balance of power," he told a convention session of the Southern Federation of Syrian Lebanon American clubs. He is a former Lebanese foreign minister. "I believe that a stalemate will result and be maintained with perhaps a little giving away from this side because neither side wants to risk a war," Malik said. Malik said countries in the Near East are threatened with communist infiltration now more than ever before. "All our lives in that area are spent under the most disquieting shadow of this great menace. The free world depends upon the strength, resiliency and moral power of the United States," he said.

Church Groups Seek to Speed Merger Action

2-Year Deadline Set for Approval Of New Constitution

Oberlin, Ohio —(P)—Some things about the United Church of Christ occasionally seem a bit intangible to its representatives meeting here today.

They say their newly-merged denomination has an abundance of spirit, but they're sometimes haunted by the temporary lack of complete organizational substance.

"It's becoming increasingly difficult to say we're united when technically we're not," the Rev. William C. Nelson of Akron, Ohio, said Tuesday in urging early action on a constitution.

Speed Process
About 750 delegates, rejecting a proposal to stretch out the constitution - framing process into a 4-year period, authorized a special procedure to permit getting the task completed in two years.

"I'm beginning to feel very much like I'm involved in a common-law marriage," said the Rev. William C. Blair of New Port, N.H., in urging expeditious action. "What we need is a nuptial contract."

The union of the Evangelical and reformed church and the Congregational Christian general council was declared two years ago, but much of the merging mechanics still awaits a constitution.

Although agencies of the two bodies already work together in many ways, it's on a tentative basis, and they still must maintain separate corporate identities and administrations.

When the church's 5-day general synod began here Sunday, the expectation was that it would act on a constitution, then give local units two years to ratify it before putting it in force at the next biennial meeting two years hence.

The new schedule allows local churches a year to appraise the charter, with an extraordinary convention next year to approve it, and then just one year for ratification prior to the next regular biennial session in 1961.

Fortunately, if this happens, there's a way to get back on schedule naturally—without going off your diet. It's the Kellogg's All-Bran way.

You see, just a half-cup of Kellogg's All-Bran (only 95 calories) provides all of the good bulk you need each day for consistent regularity.

other recourse. He said that would be to call a special session.

Eisenhower said vigorously he is never going to give up the fight for the foreign aid program. He noted he had recommended $1,600,000,000 in military assistance funds and that the Draper committee had proposed that this be increased by $400 million.

The Draper committee made a special study of U. S. assistance to foreign governments.

Eisenhower said next year's budget is going to have to carry even more money for military aid.

Johnson appealed to senators of both parties to stop additional cuts.

The Democratic leader told his colleagues they should not gamble with the nation's security, and should refuse to make any more cuts in the big measure. It was trimmed by $383 million last night.

Johnson asked the Republicans to "rally their troops as a body" and expressed hope that there would be many Democrats who felt as he did and would join in defeating further cuts.

tinue negotiations until agreement is reached.

The president also dealt with these other matters in his news conference:

Responding to a question, Eisenhower said he believes racial segregation is morally wrong when it interferes with equal opportunity in political and economic fields.

It was the first time since he took office that the president has expressed this specific view on the issue.

In bringing up the matter, a reporter asked whether, apart from the legalistic aspects—the president had any opinion on whether racial segregation is morally wrong.

Eisenhower said he assumed the newsman was talking about segregation under local law. Then he went on to say that where such segregation interferes with equal opportunity in economic and political fields, it is — in his opinion—morally wrong.

Eisenhower, in his reply, made no mention of segregation in education.

Discusses Khrushchev

He said he does not regard a visit to this country by Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev as beyond the realm of possibility.

He spoke, however, of the difficulties he said such a visit would present if the purpose were talks regarding international problems.

If, on the other hand, such a visit would be simply ceremonial, then the matter of what have long agreed that when kind of reception Khrushchev they can get together they will would get in this country, talk over all differences between would be the only factor, he between the two countries.

Eisenhower was told that The wings are being moved Khrushchev again has spoken from French bases because of the possibility of the president visiting Russia. De Gaulle will not agree to storing U. S. atomic weapons on French soil.

The first he had heard of the latest Khrushchev overture. For that reason, he said, he has not reached any conclusion. He went on to say that such a visit, too, also raises several questions.

For example, he said, the United States is a member of an international group of nations—an obvious reference to NATO and the United Nations. Those nations work together for peace, he said.

In substance, Eisenhower thus ruled out any visits by himself or Khrushchev which could be construed as efforts by Russia and the United States to settle international problems without participation by other nations whose interests were involved.

The president hit indirectly at Khrushchev in expressing amazement regarding remarks attributed to the Soviet premier by former Gov. W. Averell Harriman of New York.

A reporter said that Harriman quoted the Soviet leader as saying that if the United States wants war, "You can have it."

Asked what he thinks about that kind of talk, Eisenhower replied that he believes responsible people should not indulge in any sort of talk which could be regarded as amounting to an ultimatum or threat.

As for the U. S. announcement today that this country is pulling three fighter-bomber wings out of France, Eisenhower said he and French President Charles de Gaulle have long agreed that when they can get together they will talk over all differences between the two countries.

The wings are being moved from French bases because of the possibility of the president visiting Russia. De Gaulle will not agree to storing U. S. atomic weapons on French soil.

Eisenhower said he and De Gaulle, in talking about the possibility of a meeting in the future, never have singled out that particular issue. But the president left no doubt it would be discussed if they should meet.

Eisenhower said Sec. of State Christian A. Herter will be taking no new formula back to Geneva when the foreign ministers conference resumes there Monday.

If he personally should come disabled, Eisenhower said, Vice President Nixon would take over all of his government responsibilities — including the responsibility for deciding about any use of atomic weapons.

Eisenhower said he sees no reason why a Catholic should not be elected president. He called any questioning of such a conclusion perfectly extraneous, and likened it to asking whether a presidential possibility is a Methodist or a Presbyterian.

As to whether a Catholic could as a practical matter be elected to the White House, Eisenhower said he has no opinion on that. He added there has been only one case of a Catholic being nominated by a major political party — Alfred E. Smith, the Democratic nominee in 1928.

Eisenhower said he doesn't know whether sentiment in the country has changed since then, when Smith was overwhelmingly defeated by Herbert Hoover. He went on to say that his own vote never will be based on a man's religion so long as the candidate is responsible and qualified for the office.

testing. Robert Gilruth, director of the Mercury project, said elimination of the Jupiter booster "is under consideration," and that plans for further use had been ordered "stopped pending decision." The army's smaller Redstone rocket still will be used in the Mercury project, for preliminary testing of capsules and other equipment.

3. Under a change of plans, the first attempt to send a man aloft in a capsule will be intended to put him into orbit, using the Atlas booster. Until now, the plan was to send men first in comparatively short trip of 1,500 miles down the missile range from Cape Canaveral, Fla., recovering the nose cone capsule in the ocean.

As the test program now stands, NASA scientists will begin experimenting late this summer with the "Little Joe" rocket launcher — a squat cluster of solid fuel rockets designed for measuring the reliability of equipment, with test firings from Wallops Island, Va. Following this will come capsule re-entry experiments using the army Redstone rocket, then moving into tests in which chimpanzees ride in the capsules. When the chimpanzees have "test flown" the capsule, the astronauts will be ready for manned flight—some time in 1961.

Gilruth told reporters that in Project Mercury "we do not need any new scientific breakthrough" to accomplish the objective of sending man into orbital flight. NASA does have ahead of it "formidable engineering problems" to perfect the equipment needed, he said.

What's the idea of always shouting at me?" asked the workman. Before Zale could reply, the workman let loose with a roundhouse right. It took seven stitches to close the wound on the milkman's forehead.

Is this the financial "mess" the Democrat Party inherited?

Republicans Leave 16 Million Dollars Surplus to Democrats

During the recent campaign and ever since, the Democrats have repeatedly stated that the Republican Party has left the State of Wisconsin in a "mess" financially.

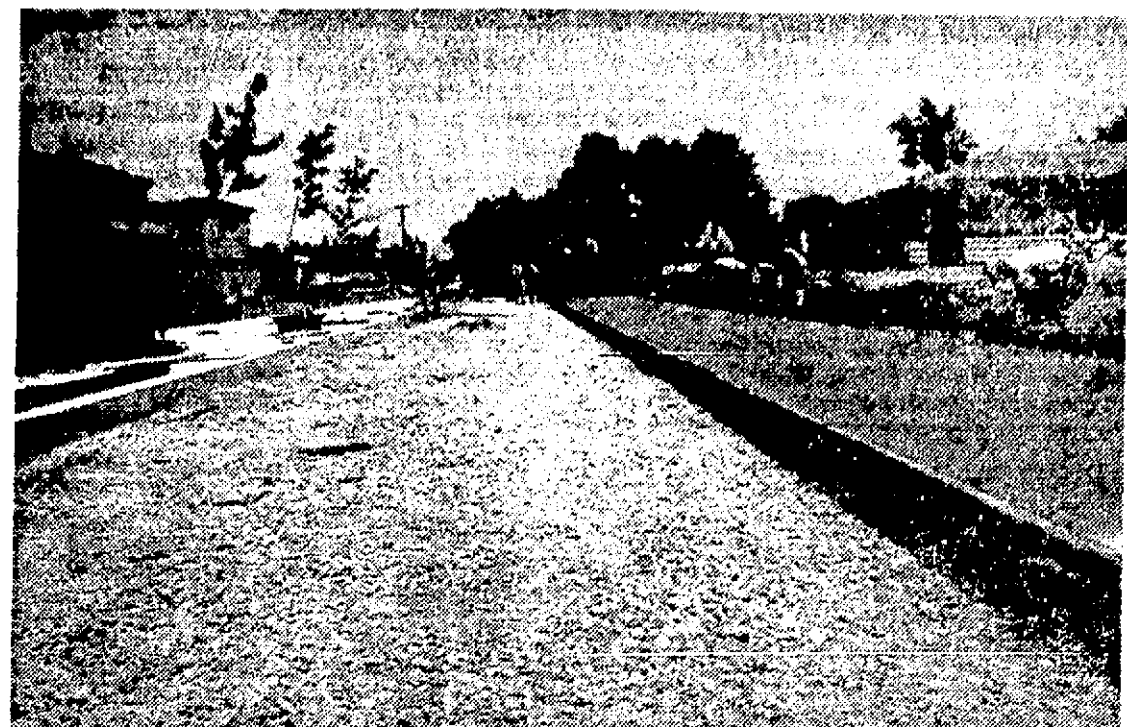

Well, now the truth is known.

Last week, it was revealed that as of June 30, 1959, responsible Republican government has left Wisconsin a surplus of 16 million dollars — with all bills paid and without increased income taxes.

Now that the Republican Party is turning over this surplus to the Democrat Party — we have one question to ask: Will the Democrat Party be able to report the same — a 16 million dollar surplus — come the end of its term in office without increasing taxes?

Lawrence Says:

Recession Is Fading Under GOP Policy

Democratic Party Chief Alarmed at Leaders' Attitude

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington—Paul M. Butler, chairman of the Democratic National committee, is certainly out of step with the country when he criticizes the Democratic leadership in congress for steering a course that he regards as too conservative.

Butler says Lawrence this is going to create a "tough situation in 1960" for the Democrats. But political realists do not look at it that way. The nation has come out of the economic recession and isn't interested in the quick remedies that made headlines when so many people were out of work during the 1958 congressional campaign. The Democratic leaders in congress have accurately sensed the trend and have been adapting themselves to it. The truth is that the next Democratic presidential nominee, in order to win popular approval, is going to have to be an exponent of what might euphemistically be termed "enlightened conservatism."

The facts of economic life are plain to see. Government bonds are selling at low prices. Interest rates are too low to attract investors. The politicians who emphasize the deficit of nearly $13 billion, which was registered in the fiscal year just ended, are inconsistent in arguing for more spending that will keep the treasury in red ink continuously.

Cleavage Significant
The cleavage in the Democratic party is significant. Speaker Rayburn resents the use of the term spenders to characterize the Democratic party, but he is unfortunately speaking for only one faction of the party—the conservatives. Almost simultaneously with the Rayburn pronouncement comes the much-publicized report and economic study of Leon Keyserling, who was chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisers in the Truman administration. It recommends a removal of restraints on spending and measures to keep interest rates low by artificial means.

Keyserling would increase the budget from the $77 billion recommended by President Eisenhower to $86 billion. No answer is given by Keyserling as to how the government is going to retain the confidence of the investor public if it keeps on adding to the deficits each year.

Apparently Butler sides with the Keyserling viewpoint and is criticizing the Democratic leaders because they have not gotten behind bigger spending programs such as are being advocated by the so-called "liberals" in the Democratic party.

Back-Door Spending

Actually, congress under the Democratic leadership has not gone as far as it might have in the beginning of the current session of congress and July 1. This includes proposed authorizations that involve commitments for future years, could go to stop the excessive spending of the taxpayers' money. As Senator Har-Byrd, Democrat, of Virginia, chairman of the senate finance committee, pointed out a few days ago, there has been a lot of "back door" spending which has not got the attention it deserves. The Virginia senator said: "Subject to further amendment to bills not finally enacted, I am advised that congressional action on spending bills to date would authorize federal expenditures exceeding administration requests by $608 million."

Senator Byrd referred specifically to a review by Tax Foundation, Inc., which covers all spending authorizations, appropriations and other spending on which any action has been taken between the beginning of the current session of congress and July 1. This includes proposed authorizations that involve commitments for future years, could go to stop the excessive spending of the taxpayers' money. As Senator Har-

Byrd, Democrat, of Virginia, chairman of the senate finance committee, pointed out a few days ago, there has been a lot of "back door" spending which has not got the attention it deserves. The Virginia senator said: "Subject to further amendment to bills not finally enacted, I am advised that con-subject to further action on pending bills."

There is little doubt that President Eisenhower's crusade in recent months for a balanced budget and a sound dollar has caught on throughout the country, and just as Speaker Rayburn and his colleagues, senate majority leader Lyndon Johnson, were beginning to point with pride to their accomplishments, along comes Butler to "view with alarm."

Butler sincerely believes that an opposition party should in the main oppose what the administration does. While this may be good theory in politics, sometimes it doesn't help at the polls to favor an economic program that could cause prices and the cost of living to skyrocket.

Lift Installed At FVGC to Aid Weary Golfers

Kaukauna — The new lift from No. 6 green to No. 7 tee is now in operation at Fox Valley Golf club saving golfers as the dollar drops in purchasing power. There must be better issues for the Democrats than this in other fields, and certainly on the economic side they can't expect to rock the boat of a growing prosperity and gain votes thereby.

The Republicans could have no better issue and could win an election by hammering home the fear of a "change" in helmets at Washington.

ers the long, hard climb up one of the many hills on the course.

The lift has railroad ties and tracks and can be operated from both above and below the hill. Golfers merely sit on the cart, press a button and are automatically lifted to the next tee. When arriving at the top of the hill the golfers send the cart down but if they forget the next group can regulate its descent from below the hill.

Lou Glaser, club pro, warns against anyone under 18 years of age operating the lift as this is prohibited by state law. Persons violating will be prosecuted and banned from the course.

Grass Fire Runs Lead to Warning By Fire Chief

Kaukauna — Firemen were called for two grass fires within five minutes Monday. Neither resulted in damage.

The first run was at 12:30 p.m. to railroad property on Dodge street and the second at 12:33 p.m. to a lot on Eighteenth street. Cause of both fires was listed as unknown.

The runs brought a warning from William Haupt, fire chief, about youngsters following the trucks on bicycles. The children mill about the trucks, hampering firemen in the operation of their duties, said the chief. He asked parents to cooperate by warning their children about the dangers of following the trucks and the importance of firemen working without interference.

Corner Bar Now in Living Room; Liquor Is Item on Family Budget

BY HOWARD WHITMAN

The fear in the old saloon-chopping days before prohibition was that old dad would zip through all the family food money getting himself sozzled at McGinty's.

Today, a motivational researcher recently reported, "There is an incipient acceptance of the woman buying packaged liquor when the situation seems to indicate that she is doing the family shopping."

He added, "Today it (the bottle of liquor) peacefully sits on home bars in countless living rooms, or even shares the intimate atmosphere of the kitchen in the homey company of pots and pans, china and glassware."

Times have changed. Liquor is no longer a clandestine expense. It's on the family budget. We have some 70 million drinkers in the U. S., about two-thirds of the adult population. Last year they drank over 212 million gallons of hard liquor, for which they paid close to five billion dollars. And they spent another five billion on beer and wine.

Figure-rattlers are quick to point out that this is 10 times more than the nation spent on basic research, twice the cost of foreign aid, and half-again as much as we spent on schools. Still it is only half what we squandered on gambling and, as a portion of total consumer income, amounts to 3.5 per cent.

In France, which has just overtaken the U. S. as the nation with the most problem drinkers, 9 per cent of consumer income is spent on drink.

A. C. Spector, in "The Exurbanites" thus analyzes the budget of Fred, the New York commuter: "Booze. Fred is careful. He is not an alcoholic, and neither is his wife. Some of their friends are, but when really hard drinkers show up unexpectedly of a Sunday afternoon, they always lock away the choicer brands of sauce. Nevertheless (his annual liquor cost is) $1,000. A very conservative figure."

Most Spend Less

But Fred is a $25,000 a year man, and the rank and file spend much less on booze—and everything else. The average per capita expenditure on hard liquor has been calculated at $29.23 for 1957. It's been jumping about a dollar a year for three years but it is still $7 less than it was in the heavy tipping years following World War II.

In quantity the per capita consumption last year was approximately 7 quarts of hard liquor, 5 quarts of wine and 80 quarts of beer. This provides about the same alcohol content the average American imbibed a hundred years ago. In 1880 the per capita consumption of hard liquor was nearly three times as great, but the beer intake was only one-seventh, so today's tippler and his great-granddaddy come out about even.

Today's drinking pattern is home-centered. There is still the corner bar, but it's in the corner of the living room. As the outdoor grill has become a symbol of good living in the suburbs, so has the liquor cabinet and accoutrements. In 1956, when liquor consumption hit a 10-year high, industry spokesmen attributed the welcome tidings to "suburban hospitality." The great, swelling armies of home owners were setting up the drinks.

Today 73 per cent of our drinking is done in homes; home drinking has more than doubled since World War I. And with it has come what the sociologists call "symbol values." The suburbanite rates himself and others by the amount they serve, the brands they serve, the varieties of potations offered, and conversely with the latest vogues. Right now, for example, you'd better know about the Bermuda swizzle, the Isle of Skye, the gimlet, and the bullshot—or check your nearest bartender.

These are suburbia's "symbol values," as was the recent vogue which set even the most demure housewives swilling vodka like Khrushchev.

Social Insecurity

Psychologists speak of social insecurity in the fast-growing suburbs which are just now settling down to know who the neighbors are and how to peg them. If George and his wife have a martini before dinner, on the terrace with the neighbors looking, perhaps this helps their rating.

The budget squeeze has given rise to a trick or two. One suburbanite, and perhaps hundreds like him, buys a single bottle each of several expensive brands and keeps refill-drinks if they just intend to waste them?"

Her husband probably has the answer. Ask him how he pursues the lone non-conformist who doesn't take a drink—"Oh, c'mon, you've got to have something. How about scotch? Gin? Bourbon?" In self-defense some offering must be chosen—to be abandoned later when the heat is off.

Need Unlimited Supply

Social pressure demands a virtually unlimited supply of whatever a guest calls "his poison." The suburbanite beams when he can fill every order, even down to the cosmopolitan who demands tequila, the show-off who asks for strega, or the existentialist who wants slivovitz.

But more often than not he's stuck by a mundane run on gin when he loaded up with bourbon, or a flock of bourbon swillers when he had hoped to sell gin and tonic. In haste and embarrassment he dashes to the liquor store, or to a neighbor's if it's Sunday, and mends the social breach.

Pressure on the new, young family man, already

Social Pressure, the Thinking that liquor is the "smart way" to entertain, can present difficult budget problems to a young couple already financially stretched between the mortgage and the obstetrician.

financially stretched between the mortgage and the obstetrician, prompted the Manitoba Committee on Alcohol Education, in Canada, to make this public announcement:

"Nearly two-thirds of Manitoba's adult population drink—and may consider that money spent on liquor is a justifiable expenditure. But many families and individuals spend too much on alcohol.

"Nobody forces them to? Wrong! Social pressure—the thinking that liquor is the 'smart way' to entertain—force them to spend more on liquor than is wise or than they desire."

In the U. S. by far the greatest per capita expenditure for drinks is found in the District of Columbia. This is followed, in order, by Nevada, Connecticut, New Jersey, Delaware and Wisconsin.

Religious Trends

Among religious groups, Jews tend to drink less on the average, and Protestants have the greatest numbers of total abstainers. Nationality-wise, Italians have a high rate of alcohol consumption but one of the lowest rates of problem drinking.

Educationally, more drinking is done among high school and college graduates than among the less educated.

As for the liquor industry—it doesn't want anyone to drink too much.

"I wish every drunk would sober up and never touch a drop again," Thomas J. Donovan, executive director of the Licensed Beverage Industries, said to me. It's a matter of economics, as well as social conscience. Excess drinking makes trouble, and

Committee Will Seek Information on Marketing Problems

Madison — Dr. Conrad Elvehjem, president of the University of Wisconsin Tuesday appointed members of a research and advisor committee on dairy marketing problems as requested by Gov. Nelson.

Named to the group, to deal with economic and technical phases of improved dairy marketing, were agricultural economists Marvin Shaars, chairman, Hugh L. Cook, Truman Graf, Harlow H. Halverson and Willard F. Fueller; and Harold E. Calbert and William C. Winder.

even a flaming alcoholic may not spend half as much on liquors as a man of taste and refinement who likes his dinner cocktail.

The fact is, says Donovan, if every drinker simply took one drink before dinner every night—and nobody ever got drunk—the industry would do 50 per cent more business than it does today.

from the Department of Dairy Industry. Dean of Agriculture R. K. Froker will serve as consultant.

Seek Data Nelson asked the committee to seek information and suggestions from agencies concerned with dairy marketing, including industry, government, university and farm organizations.

Nelson proposed eight general areas for consideration and asked for an early report. After submitting its report, the committee should continue in a consulting role, the chief executive suggested.

J. Edgar Hoover to Get Memorial Plaque From Identification Group

Houston, Texas — FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover will receive the first John A. Dondero Memorial Plaque award given by the International Association for Identification at the group's annual conference in Pittsburgh Wednesday.

Announcement was made yesterday by Edward Moeller, president of the group and superintendent of the Houston police identification bureau.

Scouts View Papermaking, Indian Lore at Roundup

BY SUSAN NOYES
Post-Crescent Society Editor

A scout's eye view of the Fox Cities' most important industry—papermaking—is being revisited this week during national Senior Girl Scout Roundup at Colorado Springs, Colo.

Demonstrating, in miniature, the production of paper are eight girls, who comprise one of the two patrols sent to the encampment under the auspices of the Fox River Area Girl Scout council.

Both patrols were challenged months ago to plan a typical demonstration depicting the color of their native community to carry out the theme "Frontiers of Home."

Indian Lore
The other patrol looked to Wisconsin's early history for inspiration and chose to learn typical Indian dances for its exhibit. The girls also delved into the Indians' background for a talk accompanying their presentation.

Patrol members are Linda Benoit, Lois Cotton, Appleton, Lynn Eastwood, Neenah, Stephanie LeVee, Appleton, Susanne Miller, Clintonville, Jeanne Mumme, Appleton, Jane Rowe, Appleton, and Lynn Wiese, Clintonville.

Both groups are showing off their work this week at Roundup unit demonstrations, at which time exhibits will be selected to be performed in a central demonstration area.

Fathers' Help
The young papermakers, unlike the "Indian" patrol, found books were of little help in creating their display. Seeking professional help, they turned to fathers of patrol members who are engaged in papermaking—John Huppler, Neenah, and Martin Huppler, Appleton.

Their daughters are Marcia Huppler and Stephanie Downs, who were joined in their ef-orts by Catherine Talbot, Neenah, Polly Grobe, Appleton, Jane Tibbets, Appleton, Rita Dale, Appleton, and Jackie Hietpas, twin sisters from Little Chute.

Fox Valley Symbol
After much trial and error, a 9-inch by 6-inch hand machine was designed to turn out a piece of paper. Huppler then fashioned a water mark, designed by his daughter, to distinguish the 8-inch by 5-inch sheet.

Tour Plants
As the girls demonstrate, they compare their hand method to that used in Fox Valley plants and display paper articles made by industry.

To brief themselves on history and modern methods, the patrol toured the Dard Hunter Paper museum at the Institute of Paper Chemistry, Gilbert Paper company and Kimberly-Clark corporation. The rough paper sheets made by the girls are being used as "swap" material to exchange with scouts from other states and countries. Their swap lode also includes fossils from the Mackville quarry and Lake Superior agates and various articles from Fox Cities industries.

Contributors include the Kaukauna Klub Cheese company, Kimberly-Clark corporation, Wisconsin-Michigan Power company, Zwicker Knitting Mills and Solding Locks corporation.

Local manufacturers who were among large-scale donors to the entire encampment are Thilmany Pulp and Paper company, Kimberly-Clark corporation and Mar-hole round at 1 p. m. At 8:15 a. m. Wednesday final matches in all flights and consolation divisions for both seniors and juniors will also be played. All golfers eliminated from the tournament at this point will be eligible to compete in the flag tournament beginning at 10:30 a. m.

In Good Taste Not Proper To Ask for Gift Money

BY EMILY POST
Dear Mrs. Post: My husband's parents will be celebrating their golden wedding anniversary in two months. My husband and I would like to give a reception for them and invite their closest relatives and dearest friends. The only real enjoyment they have is their television set which is old and not working too well. They could really use a new one. Would it be permissible to enclose a note in with the invitations asking the guests (whom I am sure will all send presents) to put the money they might spend on a gift, in an envelope so they could later use it to buy a new television set? My father-in-law is retired and they are living on his pension, which is not very large, and it would be a hardship for them to buy a new set themselves.

Answer: I am very sorry, but it will not be proper to ask your guests to give money instead of presents of their choice.

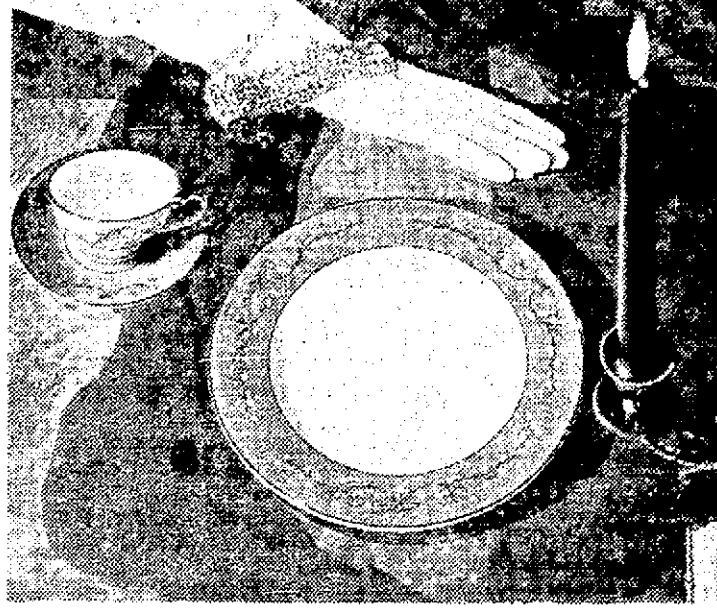

Inviting Divorced
Dear Mrs. Post: When a man is divorced and has remarried someone else, is it proper to invite his ex-wife to a social gathering at which they will be present?

Answer: To any large party or reception where the ex-wife will not have to speak to her former husband or his new wife, it is proper to invite all three of them. To a small gathering or sit-down dinner they must not be invited together unless it is known that they are on friendly terms and often go to the same parties.

Telephone at Home
Dear Mrs. Post: For years I have answered the telephone in my house by saying "Yes?" instead of the usual "Hello." The other day I was told that this was a very rude way of answering. I cannot see why, but will stop if you say it is wrong.

Answer: "Hello" is preferred to a simple "Yes" because the latter can be abrupt and even a little rude. If, however, your "yes?" is said in a friendly tone of voice and as a question, there is no reason why you should change to "hello."

Mrs. Post offers readers leaflets on a variety of subjects concerning etiquette. If you would like to have her booklet No. 501, entitled, "Etiquette of Weddings," send 25 cents in coin to Dept. e.p., in care of this newspaper, P. O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N.Y. Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail.

Precious Jewelry, Snowy White Kid gloves and delicate nylons require a gentle care. And so does fragile-looking but gem-hard translucent china. Give it the care it deserves and it will last a lifetime.

Rubber Mat Protects Honed Glass Edge

Nothing adds so much visual appeal to the enjoyment of drinking and dining as gleaming glassware.

To keep fine glassware looking its very best—and for as long as possible, today's bride can simply follow these simple care and maintenance tips.

Most of today's glassware has safely-edge rims with built-in resistance to chipping, but for added protection when washing you'll find a rubber sink mat and a rubber-covered drying rack extremely useful.

Air - Dry
The cleansing agent you use—cake soap, soap flakes, liquid or dry detergent—is purely a matter of preference. But detergent-washed glasses don't need towel-drying if ture remain in the discolored they're given a final rinse in hot water and placed rim down on the drying rack.

Good hot water—but not boiling—is a safe choice for servers bright as new. And if both hands and glassware, it's scum-ringed flower vases. And remember, glasses that are your problem, use a still have pieces of ice in them bleach to restore sparkle.

Your Problems Boy 'Wins' Contest by Drawing Own Name; Given Consolation

BY ANN LANDERS
DEAR ANN LANDERS: Last week a large store in a nearby city had a drawing for a $140 TV set. The assistant manager of the store selected an 11-year-old boy to pick the name of the winner out of the drum. Believe it or not, Ann, the Ann Landers kid picked his own name! The man in charge was flabbergasted and so was everyone else. He didn't give the TV set to the boy, however. He asked him to draw another name. Evidently the man felt guilty about it because he gave the young fellow $5 and made some apologies.

Do you think this was fair? What, in your opinion, could an incident like this do to a youngster's idea of adult integrity? — MRS. E.P.C.

Dear Mrs. E.P.C.: I don't know the rules of the drawing so it's difficult to give a definite opinion. Some giveaways stipulate that the person who does the drawing automatically eliminates himself as a winner. In such a case he usually is compensated for doing the drawing.

I suggest you discuss the incident with the Better Business Bureau. If there was no such prior agreement, the boy is entitled to a TV set and something should be done to see that he gets one.

Remove Cloudiness
Glasses that have held milk, home-made ice cream sodas, and other sticky beverages should be rinsed in lukewarm water before washing. Wine glasses, too, should be rinsed as soon as possible after use.

If you notice cloudy stains at the bottoms of pitchers or refrigerator bottles, there's an easy remedy for this too. Home economists tell us that this lime deposit can be removed by soaking tea leaves in vinegar and letting the mixture sit for a short time.

A quick rinse in diluted household ammonia will make silverware and salad dressing servers bright as new. And if it's scum-ringed flower vases, it's scum-ringed flower vases. And remember, glasses that are your problem, use a still have pieces of ice in them bleach to restore sparkle.

I've pleaded with her to wait six months and see if she still wants to marry the boy. He makes a great show of locking the box and it makes me boil. I've heard that men sometimes go through a trying period when they hit 50, the same as women. He's 52. Could this have anything to do with it?—Plain Mad

Dear Mad: Indeed some men go through a trying period and often the personality changes are marked. Insist that he see a doctor. And ignore his odd behavior. He sounds more sick than ornery.

Does almost everyone have a good time but you? If so send for Ann Landers' new booklet, "How to Be Well-Liked," enclosing with your request 20 cents in coin and a large, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

(Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.)

Combine Milk With Coffee

Have you just started to diet? If you are now taking milk in your coffee you'll find the beverage will be at its best if you heat the milk, then pour both coffee and milk (use both hands!) into your cup or mug at the same time. But make sure your coffee is really strong because you'll be us- ing half milk.

lievable mistake and the fi- nal contract was set three tricks. Let's see what West did.

The queen-of-hearts lead was taken by South with the ace after East had signalled with the seven. South now led a small spade intending to finesse but West put up the king of spades. Dummy had to play small because if the ace took the trick, the dummy would now be dead.

A small heart was led by West and East's ten forced declarer's king. A second spade now was led and West routinely played small. South studied the situation for a minute and finally played the jack from dummy. East grabbed the queen and when the smoke had cleared, declarer was able to take only his three aces and three kings and was set three tricks.

South protested that his second spade play was 100 per cent guess. My idea is that it is no guess at all. If West had started with three spades, he hardly would have split his honors — rather lose one spade trick than give up six. Therefore, South should have gone up with the ace on the second spade play.

Note that had West made the routine play of second-

Younger Set Causes Mothers To Learn Bleaching Methods

Bleaching is an age - old practice in home laundering, but by no means an "old- fashioned" idea. According to recent studies, more young women now use liquid bleach regularly in their wash than do older women, and this may be attributed to the trend toward large families and the resultant expanding wash load.

Approximately 20 per cent of American mothers are con- cerned with the ever modern "wash and wear" demands of the diaper set, and millions more keep pace with the wide range of clothing soil accum- ulated by children of pre- school to teen age. These spe- cialized laundry problems are added to the general house- hold washday load ranging from linens to blue jeans, and they demand a safe, efficient method of utilizing the whiten- ing and cleaning benefits of liquid bleach without causing damage to fabrics.

Experts noted a significant fact in recent studies: nine out of ten women who do home laundry use liquid bleach regularly, underscor- ing the necessity for a com- pletely automatic means to dispense this bleach safely and efficiently.

Bleach from the bottle is simply poured into the screened opening at the right front corner of the washer's door recess. The liquid runs direct sunlight, you need not down a "bleachproof" hose to the reservoir where it is dilut- bound or stuffed into protec- tive clothes. There are special sunblocking lotions available at most drug stores. Your doc- tor can recommend one suit- able for your youngster. (Copyright, 1959) touches the fabrics. Since al- has been mystified often by most all fabric damage in the home laundry is directly traceable to incorrect use of bleach, this safe dilution meth- od, available automatically for the first time, assumes great importance to the housewife who insists on "bleach white" results.

Detergents A second and until recently unknown problem in the bleaching process has dogged the unaware woman who adds both laundry detergent and liquid bleach to her wash at the same time. No doubt, she Recent chemical tests have revealed that the whitening agent (fluorescer) present in heavy duty detergents can be cancelled by liquid bleach unless it is allowed to act be- fore bleach is added. That "extra whiteness" offered by laundry detergents can be lost unless it can act before the entrance of bleach into the wash water.

To mothers, faced by the in- genious spot-collecting habit of the young, it is vital to get the most out of laundry aids without sacrificing fabric safety in hit-or-miss "guess- ing games" while using a fa- vorite liquid bleach.

Attic Theater To Open With Family Play

Comedy-Drama, 'Roomful of Roses', Starts 10th Season

"A Roomful of Roses," a family comedy-drama by Edith Sommer and the first presentation of the Attic theater's tenth season, will open Saturday night at the Lawrence college music-drama center.

Mrs. James Buchanan, Neenah, will play the leading role of Nancy Fallon, who eight years after her elopement with a war correspondent, tries to make friends with her daughter from her first marriage.

A Lawrence college graduate, Mrs. Buchanan was active in the college theater.

Role of Daughter

The part of daughter Bridget MacGowan, who has been in her father's custody, will be taken by Judi Jones, an Appleton High school sophomore and former Attic theater backstage worker.

James Bauer, a charter member of the Kaukauna "Limelights," will play Carl MacGowan, Bridget's father, and the role of Jay Fallon, Nancy's second husband, will be played by Robert Bell.

Mrs. Belle, who played the part of Alice Winter in the Attic theater production of "The White Sheep of the Family" last summer, will play Grace Hewitt, Nancy's best friend and next-door neighbor, in this play.

Playing Teenagers

Bonnie Barlow and Joe Foley, both June Appleton High school graduates and former Attic theater backstage workers, will play teenagers Jane and Dick Hewitt.

Mike Dixon, a sixth grader at St. Therese school, has the role of Larry Fallon, son of Nancy and Jay. Mrs. Gerald Spoerl, one of the Attic theater founders, will play William, the mulatto maid who is practically a member of the Fallon family.

The play will be given at 8:15 p.m. Saturday, Sunday and Monday and on July 18, 19 and 20.

There will be a reception for the audience, cast and crews after the opening night performance.

District 5 School Meets This Month

Sherwood — School district 5 will hold its annual meeting at 8 p.m. July 27 at Harrison school.

The town of Harrison board of review will convene at 10 a.m. July 13 in the town hall. Members of the board are George Schwalbach, chairman; Leslie Stumpf, clerk; Jerome Spang, treasurer, and Nick Zahringer and Carl Grasl, supervisors.

The Lutheran Ladies aid of St. John Evangelical Lutheran church will meet Thursday afternoon with Mrs. Earl Paschen.

Spending the weekend at the Bishop home here were Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Mansfield, Pekin, Ill., and Mr. and Mrs. William Peterson, Marquette Heights, Ill.

About 60 persons attended the Kees family reunion Sunday in Fond du Lac.

Dentist's Office Becomes Library

Miami, Fla. — Comic books are taboo in Dr. Bruce Higley's waiting room.

Dr. Higley, a dentist, decided the youngsters might as well have something worthwhile to read while waiting their turns.

So he swept out the comic books and put a set of encyclopedias in his waiting room. Now the children do their homework at his office. Some even show up when they don't have appointments just to use the books.

Appleton Man Hurt in Fremont Boat Accident

Fremont — An Appleton sufferer burns about the face and hands when his outboard motor burst into flames on Partridge lake.

Injured was William Van Bostel, 1749 N. Charlotte street.

Van Bostel pulled into shore, unloaded his gear and submerged the boat, putting out the fire about the same time the fire department arrived.

Fined for Conduct

Marty Ermers, 47, of 725 Whitman avenue, was fined $15 in municipal court Tuesday for disorderly conduct. He had been charged by a neighbor, Andrew Schilling, with using obscene and threatening language. Ermers told the court he had been drinking.

Woman Moderates at Meeting of Churches

United Denominations Hold First Full-Scale Combined Conference

BY GEORGE W. CORNELL
Associated Press Religion Writer
Obertin, Ohio — "You," said the spirited, auburn-haired woman "are out of order."

And the man on the floor blinked and sat down.

That's part of the picture here today at the general synod of the United Church of Christ where a woman helps keep reins on the mostly masculine organization.

Miss Frances Kapitzy, a warm-mannered but crisply efficient banker from Strasburg, Ohio, is sharing the task of co-moderator with the Rev. Dr. Ray Phillips of St. Louis, a crusty, portly veteran of foreign mission fields.

"She's doing a wonderful job," commented the Rev. Jessie H. Dullar, of New Port News, Va. "She is most gracious and charming in every way. She also knows how to get things done."

As the first woman moderator ever named in the Evangelical and Reformed church, she assumed the joint presiding task in the United church with Dr. Phillips, moderator of the Congregational Christian churches.

Combined Meeting

The two merging communions are holding their first full-scale combined meeting. Dr. Phillips, a missionary for 40 years in South Africa, is a ruddy, straight-talking gentleman of the old school, whose patriarchal rule from the chair contrasts colorfully with that of Miss Kapitzy.

They take turns handling the gavel at alternate sessions.

"I think the men are a little more reserved when they take issue with my rulings," Miss Kapitzy said. She added she hadn't sensed any strain in keeping matters in hand.

"It's like a board of directors meeting, only much bigger," she said. She has also kept the feminine niceties in hand, with a different dress of practically every day.

Ready Smile

A bright-eyed, vivacious woman with a ready smile, Miss Kapitzy, 57, is president of the Citizen's State bank, the only one in her home town of 1,500.

A dedicated churchwoman, she has held numerous offices in her denomination.

Dr. Phillips, 69, a 5-foot-7 man with a fringe of white hair around his bald head, church, she assumed the joint presiding task in the United church with Dr. Phillips, moderator of the Congregational Christian churches.

He said America comparatively is making more progress on the problem. "By and large we're moving quickly along the way in solving the race problem," he said. "South Africa is facing backwards and locking doors. Here we're facing in the right direction."

Slow to Change

But he said "pockets of old slave feeling" persist in this country and are rigid and slow to change.

Now retired from missionary work, he is filling in for a pastor on leave from St. Louis' Integrated Pilgrim church.

He said Christianity's biggest obstacle at home and abroad is its divisions.

"We practice a tribalism in the church," he said. "But this is changing."

Miss Kapitzy, an avid baseball fan (Cleveland Indians) and a serious backyard gardener of vegetables and flowers, said the union of the two American denominations is a great stride ahead.

"We are both learning and profiting from each other," she said. "We're building a much stronger church with a much firmer and nobler witness to Christ."

Three Men Fined for July 4 Drunkenness

Three men were fined Tuesday in municipal court on charges of drunkenness stemming from the July 4 weekend. All were arrested by Appleton police.

William J. Van Handel, 46, of 200 S. Linwood avenue, was fined $20; Abraham Skenan, 21, of 94 Abbey avenue, Neenah, forfeited a $25 bond; and George M. Parkinson, 71, of 127 S. Walnut street, was fined $10.

Complete Suit

The equipment includes a complete rubber diving suit with a wool inner suit, oxygen tanks and breathing apparatus, masks and fins.

Sheriff Ray Abrahamson said several men throughout the county would be trained to use the equipment. He said the department had needed such equipment for a long time and was extremely happy to have it.

County Given Lake Victim's Diving Suit

The diving equipment worn by Theodore Krueger when he drowned in Miner lake near Waupaca June 28 has been given to Waupaca county to aid in rescue operations.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Krueger, 1706 E. Glendale avenue, parents of the 19-year-old youth, made the donation when they learned that the sheriff's department had no diving rescue equipment.

Donald Lewis of Kind, diver for the body wearing only a bathing suit, even at the frigid depths of the Chain O'Lakes.

Mrs. Krueger explained that the family "wanted to help someone else." She added, "There was nothing better we could have done with Ted's equipment."

Hold Action On Painters' Complaints

Charges Against Firemen to Await Ruling by Attorney

The public safety committee has declined to act on charges that city firemen did painting work in violation of council-adopted rules for the fire department.

Committeemen, expressing some confusion on how the problem got before them, said they would await a ruling by City Attorney.

Three Firemen
Charges were placed originally before the fire and police commission by Joseph Jochman, secretary of the Appleton chapter of Painting and Decorating Contractors of America, and President Harold S. Feavel and Sec. George E. Walter of Local 1098 of the Painters, Decorators and Paperhangers of America. The painters claimed three firemen painted the Kenneth Blatteberg home, 1613 N. Elmhurst street, on May 5 in violation of the commission's rules adopted Sept. 8 and the council rules adopted Jan. 7.

Commissioners ruled there was no violation of their rules, but cited possible violations of the city council's Rule 54 for the fire department and forwarded the complaints to the council which, in turn, requested a recommendation from the safety committee.

(Rule 54 expressly forbids firemen from "following any other calling or being employed in any other business.")

Want Ruling
At the same time, the commissioners asked Jury to furnish them a ruling on the powers and duties of the commission, particularly in making and enforcing rules and regulations for fire and police personnel.

Committeemen said Jury's ruling may make the problem of violations one for the commission to decide, and therefore declined to take action. Jochman, in his letter, points out to the commission that almost a year ago the commission, when faced with a similar problem, ruled that "a continuation of this practice would constitute a violation of (our) code."

Three Unitarians to Attend Conference At Lake Geneva

Three Fox Cities area members of the Fox Valley Liberal Religious fellowship are attending the north central Unitarian conference at Lake Geneva today.

They are Leonard Weis, Appleton, a board member and program chairman, and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Stange, Wauwata.

Sewed to Augment Aid, Serves Month in Jail

London—A slight 38-year-old widow whose jailing shocked Britain emerged from prison yesterday without bitterness.

"I did wrong and I have had my punishment," said Effithia Christos on leaving Holloway prison after serving a month.

Her wrong was to keep quiet about doing sewing for extra money to support her four sick children while drawing government relief.

The jailing aroused protests in parliament and in the newspapers, and Mrs. Christos' 2-month sentence was halved on appeal.

Friends have found a job for her.

The Show Wasn't Ready to go on Tuesday night, but Paul Kelly circus animals drew the attention of Valley Fair shoppers while workmen assembled rides. Watching three of the five lions in their cage are, from left, Susan and Todd Van Kleeck, children of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Van Kleeck, 607 S. Mason street; Van Kleeck; and Lori Lightner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Faye Lightner, 318 W. Brewster street.

trucks could not be on highways on the weekend.
Then the trouble began. The ride foreman, the man in charge of setting up the show, quit.
The circus' first appearance in the Fox Cities was marred further when animal Trainer Joe Hartman was clawed by one of his cats about 7:15 p.m. Tuesday.
Hartman had the circus' five lions in the cage for pictures and an impromptu show for shoppers who were watching workman assemble equipment. One of them, Tina, swiped at his right hand in which he was holding a whip. The injury was minor, Hartman said, and nothing compared to one on his leg, also from a cat, which required 36 stitches.
"They're just like women—you never know what they'll do next," he said.
Working Late
Workmen were assembling the Ferris wheel when shoppers left Valley Fair Tuesday night. They still hadn't started on the merry-go-round, but guaranteed everything would be ready by noon today.
Other rides included in the circus are the rocket train and kiddie jets, plus rides on the show's elephant and ponies. Free shows will be at 3:30, 7 and 9:30 p.m. daily through Sunday on the east end of the Valley Fair parking area.

Electric Code Changes Given City Committee

Major Provision Requires License For Contracting

Changes in the city's electrical code, including a complete revision of the fee schedule for inspections, have been presented to the public safety committee.

The changes are the outgrowth of a meeting in February between City Electrical Inspector Fred Volkman and city electrical contractors and master, journeymen and apprentice electricians.

Committeemen decided to take no action on the changes until Volkman, who is vacationing, returns and can explain them.

The changes reportedly have been presented to the welfare and ordinance committee and have been approved by that committee.

Contractors License
Major change, besides the fee schedule, is the addition of a section designed to prevent electricians employed in industry from doing contract electrical work.

It requires an electrical contractor's license, a new license for the city, for any individual who wants to do electrical wiring or construction. A contractor must be a master electrician or the company obtaining such a license must have a master electrician in the company setup. The license would cost $30 initially, with annual renewals at $5.

Other changes

1. Outlets for sump pumps, required recently by the council to keep storm water out of basement sanitary sewer leads, and other tractional horsepower motors must be wired on separate circuits or provisions made for proper fusing wherever thermo protection is not built into the equipment. This applies to all tractional horsepower motors which contain automatic starting devices.

2. One main disconnecting switch must be provided for each metered service within the home. This will permit power to be shut off throughout the house by the pulling of one switch.

Change Board

3. Rigid conduit (heavy-walled pipe) must be used for electric service wires that are exposed to the weather. This is to prevent short-circuiting because of water infiltration in thin-walled pipe.

4. Two electrical contractors must be members of the board of electrical examiners. This would expand the board from five to seven members and is added because of the new electrical contractors license requirements.

5. Standards for the office of electrical inspector are revised to provide that he must have at least six years of experience as a journeyman, or four years of college electrical engineering training, and be a qualified master electrician. The revision also requires him to know all current laws and codes and forbids him to take outside jobs.

6. Standards are established for the first time for the office of assistant electrical inspector. It provides he must be a master electrician and spells out his duties.

New Fees

The recommended new fees for inspections:

Jobs costing $50 or less, $1; double the old fee.

Jobs costing $50 to $500, $1.50 for each $100 and 15 cents for each $10 fraction. The old fee was $1 for jobs costing $50 to $100 and $1 for each $100 up to $10,000.

Jobs costing $500 to $10,000, $7.50 for the first $500 plus $1 for each $100 or fraction up to $10,000. The old fee is cited above.

Jobs costing $10,000 to $30,000, $102.50 for the first $10,000 plus 50 cents for each $100 or fraction up to $30,000. The old fee was 50 cents per $100 up to $50,000.

Jobs costing over $30,000, $202.50 for the first $30,000 plus 25 cents per $100 or fraction over $30,000. The old fee was cited in part above, with the addition that every $100 above $30,000 required a fee of 25 cents.

Another addition to the code provides that regular fees may be doubled if more work than was covered by the original permit is found to have been installed. The contractor will not be able to obtain permits for other work unless the doubled fees are paid within 15 days.

Tiresome Oversight

San Diego, Calif.—P—Fred Hallemann ended up with one spare newspaper after he took over his ailing son's route one morning. The father retraced the entire route before he realized the paper was the one for his house.

Your Money's Worth

Wage Limits Block Social Security

BY SYLVIA PORTER

J. S. will be 65 in August. For almost a quarter-century, he has been paying the maximum social security tax on his earnings. and next month presumably he will be eligible to start collecting benefits.

J. S. will not collect a penny, though. For he has a job from which he will continue to earn more than $2,080 a year, more than $100 a month — and because of the level of these earnings, he must forfeit his pension.

"I don't want to retire because I'm 65, and my company isn't forcing me to," he remarked when I met him in the supermarket the other day. "Anyway, I haven't saved enough so I can add to my social security pension and live anywhere near the standard I need. I sure would like to get my benefits, but I guess I'm just out of luck."

Yes, J. S. is out of luck. And so are thousands of other Americans who have reached the age at which the law says they can collect the benefits for which they have been paying taxes but who are entirely or partially barred because they're earning more than the law says they should.

In summary, congress has decreed that social security benefits to any person over 65 but under 72 are either limited or banned if the individual earns more than $1,200 a year. There are exceptions, but this clause is basic.

As a result of this retirement test, it's estimated that 300,000 over-65 Americans are restricting their earnings to under $1,200 a year in order to qualify. Employers report this drawback to employing the over-65. "We've found that many work only until they hit the maximum earnings allowed and then they quit," someone said.

Partial Benefits

Another 200,000 get only partial benefits. They are earning between $1,200 and $2,080 a year — the absolute cutoff mark on earned income.

As a result of this arbitrary rule, another 1,400,000 are getting no social security benefits at all, for they still work full-time and earn more than the subsistence wage.

"Restrictions on earnings always have been in the social security law and should remain in the law," proponents of the limits argue, adding:

"Raising or eliminating the limits on earned income would compel the payment of many more millions a year in benefits and would force up the social security tax. We have better use for the funds than paying benefits to people who can still earn money."

Fair Limits?

But, are the limits fair? Consider that these elderly people are paid taxes to obtain benefits at 65. They're not asking for charity. They've earned their pensions.

Consider these facts and you'll understand why 89 bills have been introduced into this congress designed to liberalize the test — and a full 32 day would eliminate it. As more and more Americans move into the class of the retirement test will become obvious and will become irresistible.

Planners Rule Out Idea of Two Pools

Two - for - the - price - of - one was advocated last week by Ald. R. P. Groh, who referred to the lack of swimming facilities on the city's west side by saying he believes in bringing the facilities to the people rather than forcing them to go to the facilities.

Will Go Along
Groh, who is a member of the council's special south side pool committee, met solid opposition Tuesday from the rest of the committee and the board of public works and said he would not oppose the majority decision further.

Advocates of one large pool and Burke representatives told Groh the only place real money could be saved is in cutting back on the big cost factor, the size of the pool itself.

Ald. Schneider, Stumpf and Hannemann said that any would be divided in the middle so waders would use one end and small children taking lessons the other end. It would accommodate 120 children. The pool would increase in depth in the wading area from 12 to 18 inches and in the instructional area from 18 inches to 24 feet. Planners are contemplating doubling both areas by eliminating a proposed snack bar.

A sunning deck, 40 by 62 feet, was called too small a cost item to worry about, some $2,000, but could be eliminated in favor of relocation of the filter plant and storage area.

The filter plant and storage area would be above ground to insure ventilation of equipment which otherwise might rust quickly. There was some discussion of the cost factor but Burke representatives strongly advised it.

The concrete deck around the pool would vary from 25 to 30 to 35 feet in width, depending on nearness of other facilities.

Bicycle parking areas would be created at each end of the bathhouse. Auto parking would require an acre.

May Save Diamond

Burke representatives said the pool would occupy slightly more than an acre and parking another acre. There is hope, they said, that the 3-acre lighted softball field will not have to be moved, but the question won't be settled until the entire 7.5-acre Interlake park site is mapped and the pool superimposed.

Burke will receive 6.5 percent of total cost as a fee if the pool costs between $200,000 and $250,000. A resident engineer to be stationed at the site during certain phases of construction will cost extra. So will the landscaping, which Burke will plan and do in the rest of the park.

When the project goes to bidding, four contracts will be sought—general electrical, heating and ventilating and plumbing.

Burke said a former employee, John Lindstrom, 1521 W. Kamps avenue, will serve as resident engineer. He is a consulting engineer.

South Side Swimming Pool Planners Tuesday were told this pool could be constructed at Interlake park for $250,000, the amount earmarked for pool building. After discussion, planners ordered alternate preliminary sketches that would exclude the snack bar, upper left, and concrete bleachers atop the bathhouse.

A wading pool like the one shown at the right would replace the snack bar, and the wading pool at the right would become an instructional pool. The alternates also will consider elimination of the sunning deck, lower left, and show other positions for the filter plant and storage area, lower right.

Algeria Termed Texas of France

Propaganda May Serve to Keep Colony a Part of the Homeland

BY WILLIAM S. WHITE

Washington — Gen. Charles de Gaulle's French government has opened in this country a remarkable new campaign to influence American opinion in favor of France's position in Algeria.

What the French seek is what they have never had: The support of the United States for their policy of suppressing Algerian rebels in what has been legally as much a part of France as Texas is of the United States.

They know that the process of condemning France for her actions in Algeria will begin again this fall in the United Nations.

Propaganda New There is nothing new about the muddle of Algeria, where the rebels have captured much of the world's sympathy with cries for independence. What is new is the nature of the present French propaganda drive.

The drive is being watched by specialists in international propaganda with some sympathy, but more interest and curiosity. The French have suddenly begun to sell their story without the Gallic emotionalism most people have associated with French character.

It is a startling change. It is almost as though certain French spokesmen had taken a course in London from the world's masters of casual persuasion, the British.

Algerians Effective The most effective French voices over the Algerian question are not those of Frenchmen from France. They are those of Frenchmen from Algeria who are also Algerian members of the French chamber of deputies.

These Algerian-Frenchmen are able to do what French-Frenchmen could never do.

They are able to speak not as it utterly dependent on colonizers and exploiters of France, Algeria, all the same Algeria but as natives who is being retained by France love that land as much as the for the same reason we would Algerian rebels. insist on retaining Alaska. Al-

Banks Victors In Fight With Loan League

Two Lobbies End Most Bitter Battle Of '59 Legislature

board the Wisconsin Bankers association was the victor by a narrow but apparently final margin over the Wisconsin Savings and Loan league.

The battle started when the savings and loan trade group sponsored a bill demanding that savings and loan companies be made eligible to receive deposits of surplus funds of municipalities. The present law provides that such deposits can be made in banks.

Banks' Protest Banks protested that the purpose of the savings and loan organizations was not to receive or use short term deposits. They also repeated their frequent charge that the tax laws are discriminatory to the degree that banks are subject to them while the cooperative organizations have exemptions.

The savings and loan organizations countered that public money should be deposited according to the best interests of municipalities, and that ci-

Menasha 10-Ward Plan Altered by Action of Council

Committee Head Opposes Idea;
6-4 Vote Favors Six Areas

Redistricting the city into 10 wards, proposed a year ago, appears due for change to a six-ward setup.

The council Tuesday voted more representation on the county board.

Stilp

Rather

6-4 to instruct City Atty. William R. Giese to draw an ordinance creating a sixth ward in Menasha out of the present Fourth ward's second (eastern) precinct.

The proposal, offered by Ald. George Stilp, Fifth ward, would leave all other wards intact. With two aldermen per ward, the city council would grow to 12 members from the present 10.

On the roll call vote, Aids. Fred Block, John Klein, Gordon Schanke and Lee Rather voted no.

The redistricting matter came up after Schanke asked for a status report.

'Not in Favor'

Stilp, chairman of the ordinance and resolution committee, convinced otherwise, I am not in favor of 10 wards. To me there seems only one argument in favor of 10 wards — more representation on the county board."

Zielinski

Schanke said the council either should act on the 10-ward plan as proposed last year or rescind the resolution.

When Stilp said he doubted the 10-ward plan had been made in resolution, Mayor R. G. DuCharme offered to show him today in the minute books.

Stilp termed the 10-ward plan a "political football. The old council stalled off on it and we are expected to act immediately. It's a big problem. We aren't ready for a report as yet," he said in the first of two discussions of the plan Tuesday night.

The mayor said he did not believe the redistricting is "an extra big problem." He added that there is "slim chance" for any new law governing county board makeup because of the powerful opposing influence of the Wisconsin County Boards and Wisconsin Towns associations on the legislature.

Ald. Lee Rather, speaking as "a minority member of the committee," said the county board representation was not as important as getting better and more complete representation of the city wards on the council.

Stilp's motion for the six-ward setup was made shortly before adjournment, during the second discussion.

Garbage Pickup

Regarding garbage pickup, Schanke said a third packer-type truck should be considered. A packer, he said, will

Water Main Criticized By Council

Cite Other Action Against Service to Area Outside City

Menasha — Installation of a 6-inch water main into the Badger Highways, Inc. property north of the city limits at Ninth and Manitowoc streets came under criticism of the city council Tuesday night.

The propriety of the project was discussed after reading of the minutes of the water and light commission meeting of June 8.

Ald. Gordon Schanke said: "If we go into the records, about 1952 or 1953, we would find the council said no city facilities would be extended unless property outside the city is annexed."

Mayor R. G. DuCharme said he had been asked why the added water service was being extended to Badger Highways, while others who have asked have been turned down. "If council action has denied this service to other property owners, then this is a clear case of discrimination."

(The 6-inch main will replace a 2-h main installed some years ago to the company's land.)

Mayor Also Names Replacement
To City's Library Commission

Menasha — Mayor R. G. DuCharme Tuesday announced his appointments of seven members to the new Park and Recreation board and one member of the library board to fill an unexpired term. All were approved without discussion or dissent by the council.

Murray and Mrs. Hayward Biggers, one-year terms.

Schwartz was president of the park board until its dissolution June 30. Arft had been serving on the recreation board. All other former members were dropped.

Edward McCabe will fill out the term of the water and light department, could not be reached today for information on the project.

Andrew Wickham, president of the water and light commission, and Melvin F. Crowley, commission attorney, declined to comment, saying they were unfamiliar with any previous council action banning service extension outside the city.

the term of Mrs. R. G. Minarik on the library board until July 1, 1961. Mrs. Minarik, former president, resigned before she and her husband moved to California.

3 Slightly Hurt In Hy. 47 Accident

Oshkosh — Three persons were injured slightly in a 2-car collision on Highway 47 in the town of Menasha at 7:51 P.M. Tuesday involving cars driven by Lloyd H. Remter, 27, 926 Short street, Appleton, and Wallace C. Willes, 17, 836 Warsaw street, Menasha.

Remter complained of a sore knee and his 3-year-old daughter Cindy suffered a cut above her right eye. Willes sustained cuts and abrasions on his left elbow and also complained of a sore shoulder. All three were advised to see a physician.

Junior High Renovation Job Underway

Center Staircase Removed as Part of Fireproofing Job

Neenah — Renovation of Kimberly Junior High school is well under way, Earl C. Brien, superintendent of properties, reported to the board of education Monday night. The building is being made safer and more fireproof.

Fireproofing of the ceilings in the fan room and boiler rooms has been completed. This was accomplished by first applying metal lathe to the area and covering with two coats of cement plaster.

The center stairs have been removed and the area completely enclosed. Changing of the walls in the classrooms at the north end of the second floor is finished except for the painting.

Expects No Delay

Considerable progress has been made on the south stairs and work has been started on the north stairs. Brien said he anticipated no delay in completion of the project by the contractor if his material is delivered as scheduled.

Aug. 21 has been set as the date for completion of the work so that school maintenance crews can have everything cleaned up by the opening of school. The Aug. 21 date was a major factor in the awarding of the bid for the work since the lower bidder had mentioned Sept. 1 as a completion date.

Brien also reported two men had been working since the close of school replacing window glass, repairing window sashes and frames and caulking around windows. The first and second floor corridors in the Washington school have been painted as well as one classroom in the Wilson school. School crews now are painting the Wilson school exterior.

Arrested Sunday in the Fox river off Jefferson park for water skiing were Dennis Vansky, 19, 636 Second street, and Richard Barnstable, 22, 653 Elm street, Neenah.

They were being towed by Patrick Pawlowski, 18, 932 Third street, who Monday pleaded guilty to operating motorboat in excess of the city's 6 m.p.h. speed limit on waterways inside the city. He was fined $20 and costs by Justice Ales.

The mayor said a nurse interested in the local post could start about Sept. 1. He added older persons coming to the office might find stairs difficult.

Reckless Driving Brings $75 Fine

Menasha — Michael Smolinski, 29, 118 E. Douglas street, Neenah, paid $75 fine and costs after pleading guilty of reckless driving before Police Justice Arthur J. Ales.

Smolinski was arrested by city police on a citizen's complaint over his driving on Third street near Racine July 3.

The citizen, who signed the complaint Monday, was commended today by Justice Ales for helping the police arrest Smolinski.

Clocked at 40 m.p.h. on DePere street, William C. DuMunch, 23, 131 S. Oneida street, Appleton, paid $10 and costs after pleading guilty of speeding.

Mayor Says Menasha May Secure Nurse

Menasha — Mayor R. G. DuCharme Tuesday asked Ald. Ray Zielinski to find office space, preferably on the ground level, and arrange for office equipment for a city public health nurse.

The mayor said a nurse interested in the local post could start about Sept. 1. He added older persons coming to the office might find stairs difficult.

4-H Members Take Tour, End Study

Oshkosh — Four-H club members working with beginning nature conservation projects completed a schedule of four county-wide meetings Tuesday.

Tuesday's tour began at the Dr. G. R. Anderson farm in the town of Winchester. Ron Herman, district forester for the Wisconsin Conservation department, assisted.

The latter part of the morning was spent in observing established and very recent plantings of Herman Duesterback of the same town.

In afternoon the group toured Horicon marsh under direction of Rod Bahr, also of the conservation department. The marsh covers 30,000 acres, two-thirds owned by the federal government and the rest by the state.

The project provides waterfowl for Wisconsin hunters as well as other birds and game. The state property was bought for $186,000 between 1940 and 1946.

Consider Changes in Noon Lunch Program

Board to Act on Recommendations For Upping Meal Cost, Quantity

Menasha — Recommendations for other schools each day via taxis dealing with cost and taxicab. Tableware and service of food served at Menasha High school will be made to the board of education at its next meeting. Supt. of Schools M. J. Gegan said Tuesday.

The recommendations are to be based on a study made at the high school was 714 on by the board, Gegan and the Jan. 5, with an average of 362 school cafeteria manager, in May and 573 in January. Mrs. M. J. Macauley of Appleton.

The study was undertaken after the board and school administration heard comments that high school students were not receiving enough to eat is telephoned to the kitchen, at lunch time.

One solution, Gegan and Mrs. Macauley said, might be to increase the portions served at the high school and two weeks in advance. As raise the per-meal price from the present 30 cents. The price system purchases government includes one-half pint of milk, surplus foods for menus. They have included turkey, pork, beef, chicken, and eggs.

Varying Tastes — Mrs. Macauley and Gegan explained another problem has been the varying tastes and beans. They are purchased at nominal cost — to pay care for some foods offered, for the handling.

And such pupils often want a full meal at midday, while the school lunches are designed for balance and lightness, so as to nourish without causing the students to become sluggish in the afternoon.

Motors Firm Silent on Plan For Expansion

Kiekhaefer Company Declines Comment On Oshkosh Project

Fond du Lac — Company spokesmen declined to comment today on whether the proposed expansion of the Kiekhaefer corporation facilities at Oshkosh through acquisition of the Diamond Match company was on or off.

A company attorney during the strike indicated the firm was not going to go ahead in acquiring of the spacious building, idle for several years, although a "substantial" down payment had been made.

A company officer today, in announcing the strike settlement, stated the company itself had not made any statements about the Oshkosh expansion during the strike and had nothing to say on it now.

7-Cent Raise — The strike was settled on the increase of seven cents an hour which the company had proposed prior to the strike and which it had been paying during the progress of the strike. The International Association of Machinists union had asked for 15 cents more per hour.

Only the Oshkosh plant, which employs about 160 persons, and the Fond du Lac plant, which employs 480 workers, were affected by the strike. Plants at Cedarburg and Beaver Dam were not affected.

Settlement of the strike was reached at noon Tuesday at a meeting of company and union officials with John H. Lacey, federal mediator, and Arvid Anderson of the Wisconsin employment relations board.

The company announcement, issued late Tuesday night, stated: "The strike at the two Kiekhaefer corporation plants in Oshkosh and Fond du Lac has been settled and those employees who have not already returned to work are reporting in for work assignments as job classifications become available."

"Work on Schedule" — "Since only a small percentage of employees did not return to work almost immediately in the struck plants, plant production was on schedule throughout the strike period."

"The strike was settled on the basis of the company's original proposal with changes to protect the rights of employees who stayed on the job, returned to work, or who were hired during the strike."

"All of the economic provisions of the original proposal made prior to the strike had been placed in effect June 16 for new employees and for those employees who continued to work, including a wage increase of approximately seven cents an hour."

"A provision of the final agreement was that 'upon return to work, neither the company nor union nor individual employee will discriminate against any employee because of his support of, or refusal to support the strike.'"

The company representative declined to say what other terms of the agreement were, except to mention the vacation plan had been revised.

Agent Gives Recipes for Picnic Sandwich Fillings

Oshkosh — Since some fillings are more perishable than others, it is not wise to use non acid, moist and mixed fillings for sandwiches unless you can keep the sandwiches in the refrigerator until ready to serve them.

Fillings that keep best are jelly, peanut butter, cheese and pickled meats.

Sandwiches made with frothy bread will help refrigerate your picnic lunches. Bread is not as soft and crumbly and is easier to spread when frozen. Sandwiches are ready to use on the table after three to four hours thawing. Keep them in moisture-proof containers while thawing.

A recipe for deviled meat spread has been listed by Miss Lois Klusmeyer, county home agent. Pur four wieners, cooked and skinned, through a food chopper. Add one tablespoon grated onion, one tablespoon pickle relish, two tablespoons salad dressing, one-half to one cup finely chopped cabbage, to the wieners mixture. Mix well together. Season to taste with salt. Corned beef may be used in place of the wieners.

Cheese and Egg — A cheese and egg filling is made with two chopped hard-cooked eggs, one-half cup shredded cheese, one-fourth cup finely chopped sour pickles, one-fourth cup salad dressing, one tablespoon chili sauce and salt to season. Mix all the ingredients together thoroughly.

Other variations might be cream cheese and chopped nuts; shredded cheese or cheese spread with finely chopped celery and green pepper, tuna fish and pickles or prunes and dates added to a cheese mixture.

"A provision of the final agreement was that 'upon return to work, neither the company nor union nor individual employee will discriminate against any employee because of his support of, or refusal to support the strike.'"

The company representative declined to say what other terms of the agreement were, except to mention the vacation plan had been revised.

Citizen Asks Council for Tax Freeze

Menasha — A citizen, Wil- liam A. Stevens, 132 Broad street, Tuesday asked the ci- ty council to consider a prop- erty tax freeze for older per- sons living on fixed incomes and a teenage curfew.

His requests were referred to the ordinance and resolu- tion committee with instruc- tions for prompt action.

Stevens told the council el- derly residents have a diffi- cult time trying to get along with $200 monthly income or less, due to inflation "When taxes go up," he said, "they have to sacrifice for some- thing."

Stevens' idea is to freeze taxes at the present level for older persons while they own the property. When sold, the normal assessments would be applied.

Without chance to increase their incomes, older people could secure public welfare assistance, but they would be placed on the property. But, he added, they prefer to sub- sist on their own.

A curfew on the 14 to 17 age group, he said, is a top con- trol vandalism.

Cattle Judging to Open Dairy-Rama Show

Creameries Join in Sponsoring Program at County Fairgrounds

Oshkosh — The judging of the two classes of dairy cattle judging program scheduled will open the producers Dairy-rama and farm family youth festival scheduled for the Winnebago county fairgrounds Tuesday. Adults and farm youth enrolled in dairy projects are invited to participate in the two classes of dairy cattle judging program scheduled for 9:30 a.m. A class of four Guernseys and a similar class of four Holsteins is being provided by members of the breed associations of the county. Phil Cowan, Oshkosh, is heading arrangements for the Guernsey class and Louis Jensen, Clayton, president of the Holstein group, is heading that breed exhibit.

New Parish Begins Plans For Building

St. Gabriel May Receive Bids by Early Winter Date

Neenah — St. Gabriel Catholic parish, which held its first services Sunday, has begun to plan a combination church-school and convent buildings. The Rev. Lawrence Stingle, pastor of St. Gabriel parish, said Architect George Narovec of Appleton probably would have a plan ready for bids by early winter. The parish owns land at the west edge of Neenah.

Preliminary planning calls for a church to seat 800 persons and a 16-classroom school in one building. At some later date, the church portion might be converted into six more classrooms. Father Stingle said.

The new parish only has one boundary fixed — the Soo line railroad tracks leading into Neenah. St. Gabriel is west of the tracks and St. Margaret Mary parish, to the east. Other boundaries will be set by the Most Rev. Stanislaus V. Bona, bishop of the Green Bay diocese.

New Officers
The new parish officers are Bishop Bona, president; Father Stingle, vice president; Donald Hassler, secretary; and Paul Peeters, treasurer. A group known as the building committee and consultants for the parish includes the pastor, secretary and treasurer, as well as Lyle Jacob, Charles O'Meara, George Sturm and William Gehr. This group will work with the architect and also act as trustees.

In the new parish are an estimated 600 families with about 750 children between 1 and 10. The figures are based on a survey made in the area 24 years ago, and updated last winter.

Holy Name
All men of the parish automatically belong to the Holy Name society, whose first officers are Eugene Heimerman, president; John Heigl, vice president; Wilnot Houpt, secretary; Dave Hintzen, treasurer; and John Hammill and Alvin Zettel, marshals.

Officers of the Sanctuary society and Christian Mothers are Mrs. James Wenzel, president; Mrs. Peter Grogan, vice president; Mrs. Louis Froze, secretary; and Mrs. Noel Smith, treasurer. All parish women are members.

No pledges are being solicited from parishioners, but each working person is asked to donate the equivalent of one hour's pay per week to the church.

Articles of incorporation of the parish are in process of filing with Secretary of State Robert C. Zimmerman.

Jewelers Insurance Firm Meeting Set

Neenah — Annual meeting of officers and directors of the Jewelers Mutual Insurance company is being held here today. The firm was founded here in 1913 by Andrew W. Andersen and is now managed by Ivaux W. Andersen who serves as secretary-treasurer and manager. The firm, which has $65 million of insurance in force, employs 14 persons at its office above the Twin City Savings and Loan association office and is licensed to do business in 16 states.

A dividend of 30 per cent on each dollar of premium is paid to each policy holder and the company has a high financial rating.

Parked, Waiting

St. Louis — A pair of killdeer has an entire factory erected about their four white eggs. The birds built their nest in the middle of the large parking lot of the Universal Match corp. Employees, worried about the cars roaring in and out of the lot, surrounded the nest with railroad ties.

Official placing of the cattle classes will be done by representatives of the national breed associations. Charles Brace, Lone Rock, fieldman for the Holstein-Friesian association, and Bernard Sheridan, Fond du Lac, representing the Guernsey Cattle club Award Trophies.

Top scoring junior contestants will receive trophies.

One of the highlight features of Dairy-rama will be a professional dairy animal showmanship demonstration conducted by a Holstein entry from Pabst Farms of Oconomowoc. Elias Knutson, a widely recognized judge of dairy cattle and the man in charge of the training of the show herd at Pabst Farms, will accompany the animal and conduct the demonstration scheduled for 2 p.m.

The Dairy-rama is cooperatively sponsored by the Winnebago county agriculture extension service, vocational agriculture departments of high schools in the county and the Winnebago county Dairy Plant Operators association.

Seek Foster Homes for 37 Children

Oshkosh — A foster home recruiting program to find homes for 37 youngsters is being conducted by the Winnebago county department of public welfare, says C. J. Howman, director.

A social worker will be available to interview families interested in taking in foster children. He is Norman Dineen, a graduate student in the school of social work in the University of Wisconsin in Milwaukee, employed for the summer by the county welfare department.

In this county, 47 homes are caring for foster children. The department pays foster parents room, board and medical costs and gives a clothing allowance.

Families interested in the program may contact the welfare department at the courthouse in Oshkosh.

Inheritance Taxes Total $38,000

Oshkosh — Inheritance tax payments received by the county treasurer's office for the second quarter of the year totaled $29,266 for the normal tax and $8,780 for the emergency tax. The county retains $2,195 as its 7 1/2 per cent share and sends the $33,905 balance to the state.

The county also collected $1,339 in probate fees for the state judges retirement fund, of which $870 goes to the state County Treas. Earl E. Fuller announced.

Adopt Method of Pledge Redemption

Winneconne — New methods of receiving and redeeming pledges were adopted Sunday by members of St. Paul Evangelical church at a special meeting.

A special finance committee for the church's building program will receive the pledges and subscriptions. Three-year pledges now are being taken. Twenty workers will assist the finance committee, which includes C. H. Mueller, chairman, and Irvin Hendrickson, John Ryf, Donald Gilson and Earl Lapske.

Regional Planning Proposal Backed

Board Also Deadlocked Again On Trustee Vacancy Decision

Combined Locks — The village board Tuesday night approved a proposal of the Fox Valley Regional Planning commission to automatically make heads of municipalities members.

Action on the decision approves the commission's amendment to change from appointed lay delegates to the new system.

Support was moved by trustee Carl Nagan and seconded by William DeGoey.

In other action, the board found out that the election of a new member to the 6-man village board will have to wait another meeting. The board again split their vote on two candidates who are hoping to fill the vacancy created by the March 2 resignation of Edward Lindberg.

Two Candidates — The candidates — Marvin Schumacher and Robert Lace — again received three votes each, the second time in two meetings. Upon legal advice from Gerard J. Van Hoof, Little Chute, Lindberg will be asked to break a vote since his resignation did not

Council Agrees To Annex 2.6 Acres of Land

Seeks Permission to Use County Property For Park Purposes

Kaukauna — Several land projects including annexation of about 2.6 acres and acquiring 8.5 acres for the county for park or school purposes were given attention by the common council Tuesday night.

Aldermen approved publication of an annexation ordinance whereby the city would acquire about 2.6 acres of land in the town of Buchanan adjacent to the Third ward in Kaukauna. The property is platted and residential area and citizens have requested annexation.

Since the city has sewer water lines running into the area to serve city residents on opposite sides of the street, no difficulty is expected in annexation approval.

Quit Claim Deed

Council members approved a conveyance agreement to be submitted to Outagamie county whereby a about 8.5 acres of land adjacent to Green Bay road and Plank road in Kaukauna would be given the city for school or park purposes. The county at one time offered the city the property as a site for a hospital.

The wooded area involved is adjacent to Grignon land and the American Legion has requested the city to make the area into an American Legion park. The veteran's unit would build a clubhouse on the property and maintain the area as a public park. Previous meetings between city and county officials indicate the quit claim deed will be secured as long as the area is used as a park.

The chairman of the finance committee was authorized to investigate the possibility of purchasing about five acres of land from Mike Klein for school or park purposes. The land is located in the Third ward in one of the fastest growing residential areas in the city.

Approval was given to the Berker's Floral plat after the engineer submitted the proposed plat and the State Highway commission informed the council no objection to the plat was found. State approval had to be secured as the area is adjacent to a State highway and State trunk.

Roy Hacker's request to purchase a triangular piece of land on Hillcrest drive from the city was referred to the finance committee for investigation. The committee was informed to research easements for sanitary sewer and roadway purposes.

Tourney Play Opens Tonight

Kaukauna — The second annual Kaukauna Area softball tournament sponsored by the club sponsored by the city will open tonight on the Dodge street diamond with three games scheduled.

The 20-team event will run through Sunday with the championship game to start at 8:15 p.m. Sunday. Open to the tournament for the first time will be Ban's publishing of Menasha meeting Bier's bar of Appleton at 7 p.m., Owl tavern of Neenah battling Hillside bar of Kimberly at 8 p.m. and M and M Beer of Kewaunee opposing Gauthier meats of Green Bay at 9 p.m.

The Roof and Interior of the Golden Bar, route 1, Seymour, were heavily damaged by a fire which swept through the building Monday afternoon. Mr. and Mrs. Frank Garsow, the owners, were able to save only a few of their personal belongings.

$2 a Foot

Water Frontage Rates Increased; New Lights Approved by Board

Little Chute — Property owners in Little Chute who want water and sewer service installed will have to pay lets, which would be added at 25 cents a foot more for that service, the village board decided Tuesday night.

The board raised the water and sewer frontage rate from $1.75 to $2 a foot. There was no discussion.

The village also accepted the Kaukauna Electric company proposal to install a new white way on Main street, replacing what board members have termed the present inadequate system.

Outlets Discussed — The company will bill the village for electricity used and the installation will be long to the company.

The possibility of having special outlets installed on the poles is being investigated.

Construction Violations Hit

Can Stop Projects Without Permits, Little Chute Told

Little Chute — Remodeling or construction work done in Little Chute without a building permit can be forcibly stopped and the owner fined, the village board was reminded Tuesday night by Henry Dercks, building inspector.

Dercks complained that it is impossible for him to police the village, searching for small construction projects being done without a permit. He requested that the police stop such work and report it to him.

"There are lots of things being done without a permit," he complained, "but I don't know where they are." He said, for example, that a restaurant owner had done $3,000 of work without a permit.

Can Use Force

When Dercks talked to one of the workmen about getting a permit, the man shrugged his shoulders, "and that was the end of it."

The village board told Dercks that under such circumstances he should simply force the men to stop work and call the police if necessary. Violators also can be fined.

Anyone contemplating building or remodeling is required to seek approval of his project from the building inspector, who issues permits. Garage permits are $1; house permits, $2; store and industrial permits, $2.

Summer Work Projects Approved by Council

Bids Amounting To $34,930 for Sewer, Roads Let

Kaukauna — The common council Tuesday night accepted two low bids calling for costs for improving drainage bituminous road construction from Thirteenth to Fifteenth costing $22,825 and storm sewer project costing $12,105.40.

Murphy Construction company was low bidder for work on Thirteenth road where about 2,700 feet of bituminous paving will be used, on Elm street from Schultheis street to the first bridge and on various patch projects throughout the city.

Low bidder for the 12-inch storm sewer was Tenor Brothers of Green Bay with about 2,270 feet of sewer to be laid.

Fleet insurance bid went to Black Insurance agency of Kaukauna with a bid of $1,078.30. Two bids were received.

The council agreed to meet with officials of the town of Buchanan to look over a ditching undertaking in a ravine which will provide better support to the regional drainage through a ravine running through the township at the city. It was indicated Buchanan officials were willing to pay their share of the costs for improving drainage from Thirteenth to Fifteenth street.

Property owners in the area will be notified and asked to appear when officials from both areas meet to review and look over the proposed project. The clerk was authorized to notify persons concerned.

VFW Parade Donation — The city agreed to donate $100 to the Veterans of Foreign Wars to assist with the July 12 parade planned in conjunction with the unit's picnic.

A letter asking the County Highway committee to include the improvement of County Trunk J and Q in the 1960 county estimated cost of $100 was placed on issued to Robert Main, 935 Wilson street, by Lothar Kemp, building inspector.

Janesville, July 20, 21 and 22. Recommendations from the state board of health on a wading pool was referred to the health and recreation committee for study.

Regional Planning — Aldermen gave whole hearted support to the regional planning commission's recommendation which would automatically make mayors, village presidents or heads of municipalities a member of the executive board of the commission.

The recommendation was made at a recent meeting of the commission when the lack of liaison between citizen executive board members and the municipal government was listed as a cause of some of the stalemates encountered by the planning unit.

Appointed to the board of review by Mayor Joseph Borgeson were Wilfred Powers, Fourth ward alderman, and Fred Reichel, Fifth ward alderman.

Building Permit

Kaukauna — A building permit to replace a porch with a concrete stoop at an estimated cost of $100 was issued to Robert Main, 935 Wilson street, by Lothar Kemp, building inspector.

Serious Break in Hog Prices Expected if Output Hike Continues

Large Price Decline May Have Serious Political Implications

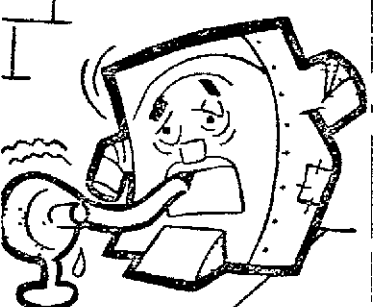

Washington — (AP) — A serious break in hog prices could come in the fall of 1960 if production continues to expand next spring, says the Agricultural Marketing Service.

This dire price forecast—made in the agency's latest survey of the livestock and meat situation and outlook—has far-reaching political as well as economic implications. The price decline would come in the midst of next year's presidential and congressional campaigns.

Political Issue
Hog production is especially important in the Midwest, a major political battleground in recent elections. The marketing service has been forecasting lower hog prices this year and next. But this is the first time it has predicted what it calls "serious" price consequences.

Price Ratio
The last time hog prices dipped sharply was in 1955. But by election time in 1956, quotations were turning upward. As a consequence, the low prices were minimized during the campaign that year. A downturn in production in 1956 and 1957 was followed by a sharp rise in prices. This in turn encouraged a new expansion which, it now appears, may continue into 1960.

The marketing agency said there was a possibility that growers might halt the expansion before it is too late to prevent a price break.

Says Surplus Should Go to Poor Nations

Madison — (AP) — A University of Wisconsin agricultural expert has a plan he says would use this nation's farm surpluses, slave off underdeveloped countries and help improve international relations.

The plan was suggested by Noble Clark, associate director of the Wisconsin Agricultural Experiment Station.

Free Basis
He proposed food distribution on a free basis for specified periods of time to nations desiring help. To avoid disrupting normal international sales of farm products, each nation would assure that the U. S. supplies would be used to supplement—not replace—food the nation customarily bought on the world market.

"The communists," he said, "would find it hard to match such a program that obviously was based on serving our friends—with no military, political or commercial strings attached."

He added that the U. S. could afford the kind of food program he described.

Mays Batting .400 As All-Star Player

Willie Rises to the Occasion Again With Clutch Triple

BY JACK HAND

Pittsburgh —(P)—Willie Mays is hitting a cool .400 in All-Star competition. The San Francisco center fielder seems to be able to rise to the occasion.

Willie's tremendous triple to the ivy-covered wall in right center field in the eighth inning drove home the winning run in the National league's 5-4 victory over the American league Tuesday at Forbes field.

"Was that the hardest hit ball by you this season?" a fellow asked Mays.

"Man, I don't remember hitting any harder," he answered.

6th All-Star Appearance

Mays has hit 14 home runs in regular National league play and has knocked in 56 runs while batting .311. The smash off "Whitey" Ford broke a National league losing streak at two games.

It was the sixth All-Star game for the 28-year-old speedster who captured the hearts of New York fans at the Polo grounds before the Giants moved west.

Mays was one of six regulars to go all the way in line with manager Fred Haney's plan to play the game like a regular season contest and not as an exhibition.

"How about that Ryne Duren?" somebody asked Mays who was getting his first look at the New York Yankees flame-throwing right hander.

"Man, didn't you see me wearing the helmet," he replied. "That's the first time I wore one all year."

Mays explained that he conforms with the rule about wearing protective head gear by using a cap with an inner lining.

He practically swung out from under his helmet as he became the first of Duren's four strikeout victims. Willie was the first to face Duren in the fourth inning.

Until Mays unloaded the triple in the eighth he had been held hitless. He lined out in the first, when Early Wynn was pitching, struck out and hit into a force play against Duren.

Casey Stengel of New York was asked if his Mickey Mantle would have caught Mays' drive if he had been playing center instead of Harvey Kuenn of Detroit.

"That was no fly ball," said Casey. "He really hit it. It couldn't go any further out without going out of there."

NL All-Stars Rally in 8th To Nip American Leaguers

Mays' Triple Off Ford Drives In Winning Run; Haney Says He'll Use Same Lineup in LA

BY JOE REICHLER

Pittsburgh —(P)—Manager Fred Haney plans to use the same starting lineup in next month's All-Star game in Los Angeles as the one which defeated the American league 5-4 for the National league's first victory since 1956.

The American league squad, however, may have a few new faces. That was losing manager Casey Stengel's ill-concealed threat Tuesday after his athletes let the game slip out of their hands after coming from behind with a 3-run rally in the top of the eighth inning.

Dissatisfied with Ford Stengel didn't single out any player for the blame in the defeat but he made no bones about the fact that he wasn't satisfied with the pitching of "Whitey" Ford, his own star Yankee left-hander.

Ford was on the mound when the Nationals roared back with two runs in the bottom half of the eighth to overcome a 4-3 deficit.

Stengel also might have felt that if Mickey Mantle, his limping slugger, had been playing in center field, he might have caught up with Willie Mays' booming triple in the eighth that drove in the payoff run.

The ball sailed over Harvey Kuenn's head and bounced against the right center field wall. Kuenn, Detroit's right fielder, had replaced Al Kaline in center. Mantle, who normally would have played there, was in right field because of a sprained ankle.

When asked whether he thought Mantle should have caught the ball, Stengel growled: "You want me to put the rap on my players, but I won't do it. I don't want to take anything away from Mays. It was no soft fly ball he hit, you know."

Stops Threat

Although he was careful not to say anything that might be construed as criticism of his players, Casey indicated he was not very happy with their play.

"They (the Nationals) played worse than we did," he said. "But they won and that's what counts. Those guys were lucky we didn't score more runs in the eighth, or else they were just playing with us when they let us fill the bases."

Foxes Lose 1-Run Verdict for 14th Time in 17 Tilts

Bluejays Erase 4-0 Lead in Last 3 Frames for 5-4 Win

Green Bay—The Green Bay Bluejays and the Fox Cities Bluejays maintained their respective reputations of winning and losing the close ones here Tuesday night.

The Bluejays scored their second straight 5-4 second-round victory over the Foxes. Relief pitcher "Red" Huffman delivered a bases-loaded single in the ninth to break up the game.

The Foxes have now lost 14 of their 17 games that have been decided by one run this season.

After an off-day today, the Foxes open in Sioux City Thursday night.

Waste 4-0 Lead

Fox Cities blew a 4-0, 6-inning lead last night. The Jays rebounded against loser Rene Nodarse with a run in the seventh (on Fran Boniar's homer), three unearned runs in the eighth and the clincher in the ninth.

Boniar led off the ninth with a single—his third hit. Bob Parker bunted for a sacrifice, but Jake Wood didn't touch the bag after taking Nodarse's force-play throw — and both runners were safe.

Don Williams bunted down the third base line, but Carlos Pascual dropped the ball in his haste to pick it up and throw back to third (where "Zorro" Versalles was covering for a possible force play. Huffman slapped a ground single to right to end the game.

In the Foxes' first, Versalles walked, took third on Jim Johnston's single and scored.

Tigers Option Aehl to Foxes

John Aehl, former University of Wisconsin pitching star, was added to the Fox Cities Foxes mound staff today.

Milwaukee-native Aehl, an option from the Detroit Tigers, had a sensational season in 1958 with Durham of the Class B Carolina league. He was the loop's top hurler with a brilliant 1.86 earned run average.

A 5-foot, 9 inch left-hander, Aehl won 11 games and lost seven for last place Durham. He had 12 complete games in 17 starts and fired four shutouts, including a no-hitter. Aehl allowed just 147 hits in 174 innings, walked only 57 and struck out 116.

Bonus Player

He was signed for a bonus off the UW campus.

This season Aehl got off to a rocky start at Durham. He pitched only a total of 44 innings in his first 10 starts.

The Foxes have returned right-hander Gary Mitchell to the active list. To make room for Aehl and Mitchell pitcher-infielder Ed Thomas and pitcher Jake Himey have been released.

Aehl was due to join the Foxes today before they departed on a 14-week road trip.

Braves Play Big Roles in NL's All-Star Victory

Mathews, Crandall, Aaron Combine for 4 Hits and 3 RBIs

Pittsburgh —(P)—Milwaukee Braves Eddie Mathews, Hank Aaron and Del Crandall accounted for four hits and drove in three runs Tuesday as they took vital parts in the National league's All-Star game victory.

Other Braves sharing in the victory were pitcher Lew Burdette and Manager Fred Han-

Mathews, Aaron, who directed the 5-4 comeback triumph over the American league in the twenty-sixth annual summer classic.

Aaron, in four trips, banged a pair of singles—one of them sending in the tying run in the eighth — and came up with a fielding gem.

Booming Homer

Mathews opened the National league attack with a booming home run over the right field screen in the first inning. He also was charged with the game's only error.

Crandall's only hit, a single, delivered the National league's second run, one of two scored as the senior circuit took a 3-1 lead in the seventh.

The sparkling fielding play by Aaron, the first unanimous choice in the history of All-Star competition, came in the fourth when he raced deep into right center to gather in Gus Triandos' line drive bid for an extra base hit.

"Boy, I was hitting the ball harder than I had for the last three weeks," said Aaron who leads the majors with a .370 average. "That fly I caught was hit hard but I was pretty sure I would get it and I did, thank goodness."

Burdette, who worked the middle three innings, gave up four hits and one run — a homer that tied the score by Detroit's Al Kaline.

Crandall, who went all the way behind the plate, said Lew was pitching a "typical Burdette game."

"Burdette usually gives up quite a few hits but not many runs," said the catcher.

Burdette offered, "I don't worry about hits, it's who wins that counts."

Ryne Duren, a New York Yankee from Canzenovia, Wis., allowed only one hit in the fourth, fifth and sixth innings. Milwaukee's Kuenn of Detroit took a turn-in center field and failed to hit in one trip.

London, England — Terry Aehl was due to join the Foxes today before they departed on a 14-week road trip.

Stengel Promises Changes for Aug. 3 All-Star Game in LA

Haney Calls NL's All-Star Success 'A Team Victory'

Pittsburgh — (P)—Take it from the old professor: Casey Stengel. There's to be some changes made for the next All-Star baseball game at Los Angeles Aug. 3.

"Just say I've got my eye on four or five guys, granted the New York Yankee manager after his American league All-Stars dropped a 5-4 decision in the National league Tuesday at Forbes field.

"I was satisfied with the team, and it was a good game," said Casey, "but when you lose you gotta make some changes. I'll let you know later."

'Nothing to Regret'

"There's nothing to regret. They (the Nationals) played and defensive work."

When it didn't work, look out. "It was a team victory all the way. It's difficult to single out any one player, although the pinch-hit right-hander for there was some line pitching three runs."

Gets First Hit

"Well, when you're a base ball manager and your strategy works, you are a genius. When it doesn't work, look out. It was a team victory all the way. It's difficult to single out any one player, although the pinch-hit right-hander for there was some line pitching three runs."

Don Drysdale of Los Angeles hit wide and lower than he wanted, he said. "But you if (Willie) Mays doesn't hit him, Eddie Mathews slam-can't win 'em all. At least, I that triple, well there's a lot more a home run; Ernie Banks didn't lose as the boys came of things we could have of Chicago hit two doubles, through."

Mays' booming triple over a fielding gem in the fourth victory and Stengel's sixth-dead head of Detroit's Harvey when he gathered in Gus Tri- feat in nine games. Somehow Kuenn in right center scored and's line drive bid for extra Casey does better in October.

Bobcats May Move Into Central Loop

League to Meet On Possibility This Saturday

Green Bay — There is "a good chance" the Green Bay Bobcats will move into the Central Hockey league for the 1959-60 season, General Manager Donald M. Clark announced today.

The Central league will hold a meeting in Minneapolis Saturday "with the idea that it may take on three teams," he revealed.

Additions to the present league alignment, along with Green Bay, would be Milwaukee and Duluth, Minn. Hold-over members are the Rochester, Minn., Mustangs, 1958 national senior champions, and perennial Central league rulers, Des Moines and Minneapolis. St. Paul, a Central entry last year, is expected to move into the International league.

Good Chance

"There is a good chance the Central league will be formed on that basis for the coming season," Clark said. "It looks like a natural because the traveling distances are not too great and rivalries already exist within the league."

The Bobcats operated in the Mid-America Hockey league in their first year last season, along with Calumet, Houghton, Marquette and Sault Ste. Marie, Mich.

He said the Central league "will be made up primarily of American players but it appears some Canadian imports will be allowed." The Mid-America bars Canadian players.

Greatest travel distances, he said, would be from Green Bay to Des Moines and Duluth to Des Moines, both 400 miles apart.

Halimi Remains 2-1 Favorite Over Bocerra

Los Angeles (AP) — Broad-shouldered Alphonse Halimi of France risks his world bantamweight crown in a 15-round fight tonight with the No. 1 contender, Jose Becerra of Mexico.

The 27-year-old French Algerian remained the betting favorite at 2-1 or 8-5.

The scrap goes on at 9 p.m. CDT, and will be televised nationally via ABC, with Southern California screened out.

Promoter Cal Eaton predicted a crowd of 15,000 or more would pay upward of $150,000 to see the match, which serves as a kickoff sports event for Los Angeles' new $6,000,000 Memorial sports arena.

"I am ready to fight one to 15 rounds. I fully expect to win," said Halimi.

Halimi, in the second defense of the title he won April 1, 1957, will pick up a guarantee of $65,000. If he loses, he has a guarantee for a rematch within 90 days.

Becerra settled for $20,000 for a shot at the championship.

The fight will be scored on a 10-points per round basis.

Moen Hurls Little League One-Hitter

Badger Highway's Moen tossed a 1-hitter Tuesday evening to give his club a 2-1 Appleton Little League Western division victory over the Teamsters. He struck out 11 and walked six. Rankin got the only hit off of him.

Dresang and Caldie divided hurling duties for the losers, with Dresang getting the loss. Moen and Ebben each had two hits for the winners.

That's what Ingemar Johansson said a few days after he knocked out Floyd Patterson to win boxing's most prized crown.

There's been no outward change in Johansson since he won the title. He's been pleasant and patient as ever.

In the ring, the handsome, blue-eyed Viking showed he had the killer instinct that made Joe Louis famous.

Rembles Lindbergh

In public, Ingo is warm and affable. Handsome as a model, he bears a striking resemblance to the Charles Lindbergh of 1927 flight to Paris fame.

Ingo right now feels he would like to fight at least for three or four more years. "I like to box," he said. "I don't love it, but I have always li - 1 it."

A return fight with Patterson figures to bring him close to a million dollars. He made about $250,000 for the first fight, although it's being held in escrow to guarantee the return bout.

Patterson has grossed about $1,600,000 in ring earnings, most of it since he won the title by knocking out Archie Moore Nov. 30, 1956.

Johansson places most of his earnings into his construction and earth-moving firm.

"When I first made good money in boxing I found that I pay most of it in taxes," said Ingo. "Now I put my money into equipment for my business. Under Swedish tax laws, my investment gets paid out in four or five years."

He sells gravel and dirt, builds foundations, and has a trucking fleet. He has bulldoz-as Hernan Vila stretched his hitting streak to 14 straight games with a single to right.

Later in the inning, Johnston was cut down at the plate trying to score after a "Chuck" Weatherspoon fly ball.

Foxes Add Two The Foxes added two in the fourth on Bennie Sinquefield's RBI single and Roger Bean's sacrifice fly.

The visitors made it 4-0 in the fifth as Versailles led off with a safe bunt and scored on Wood's double to left.

The Foxes, however, left Wood stranded as Johnston and Vila fanned and Weatherspoon flied out.

Green Bay broke the ice in the seventh on a 1-out homer by Bonier — his fifth of the year.

In the Bluejay eighth George Scott singled after two out. Second baseman

Wood erred on an easy ground ball, putting two men on. Tim Harkness then slammed his fifteenth homer of the season over the right field wall.

Versailles drew a big ovation from the crowd of 1,619 fans when he started a double play by racing far to his right and coming up with a terrific stop.

He is a clothes model on the side and makes a lot extra with endorsements. Johansson stands 6 feet, 1/2 inch and weighs 196. He has a huge wardrobe.

Ingo was married at 17 and divorced at 18. He has a daughter, Jean, by that marriage.

His command of English American version is good.

"I learned it by watching American movies with Swedish sub-titles," said Johansson.

Rio Theater Remodeling Gets Underway

$10,000 Project Will Involve Toy Store, Stockroom

A $10,000 remodeling project is underway in the Rio theater building, preparing it for Prange's toy department. The job should be completed and the store opened by Sept. 15, according to William Pifer, Prange's Appleton manager.

The floor will be leveled from the lobby to the rear of the building. The lobby walls are being removed and the interior demolished. Pifer said. A false 12-foot ceiling is being put in the theater portion of the building, which will be used for merchandising. The space above it will be unused, although the balcony will become a stockroom, Pifer said.

Midway Entrance
The entrance to the building will be glass enclosed. The right half will contain display windows; the left half, doorways. A second set of doorways will be opened onto Midway street, adjacent to the new 6-story Prange building. The sign and marquee will be removed.

Two shops in the corners of the theater will remain where they are, Pifer indicated.

He said Prange's has no future plans for the building, although there is room for nearly three stories of merchandising space. The theater's fate will be decided when the new store structure is completed, about 1941, he indicated.

Quasius Brothers, contractors for the new store, are doing the remodeling work.

Rails Again In Demand

Gains and Losses About Even for Leading Issues

New York — Rails resumed their rally as the overall stock market churned near its latest record high early this afternoon. Trading was fairly active.

Gains and losses of fractions to 1 or 2 points prevailed among key stocks.

The 3-day upsurge to record highs left ample room for profit-taking. Some steels backed away sharply.

The rails, which advanced Tuesday to their highest level since 1936, moved ahead on average despite a few casualties.

Fairly sharp losses were taken by some of the fast-stepping electronics.

Motors were irregular. Oils, coppers, tobaccos, airlines and aircrafts lost ground. Advances by a few pivotal issues gave the average a slight edge to the upside.

New York Central rose a sizable fraction. Southern Railway was down around a point.

U. S. Steel and Youngstown Sheet fell more than 2 points as the steels were hit by profit-taking.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up 10 cents to $233.60 with the industrials down 10 cents, the rails up 50 cents and the utilities unchanged.

Pedestrian, Bike Rider Injured in Separate Mishaps

A pedestrian and a bicycle rider were hurt in separate accidents in Appleton Tuesday and today.

Ellen Vandenberg, 3, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Vandenberg, 719 S. Telulah avenue, received a broken right leg when she ran from behind a parked truck into the path of a truck driven by Rintert A. Wenzel, 45, 1901 Green Bay road, Kaukauna, near her home about 2 p.m. Tuesday. She was taken to St. Elizabeth hospital by Wenzel.

Wenzel told police he had braked for a small boy who crossed the street when the girl darted into the path of his truck.

Vincent Procknow, 15, 519 E. Maple street, received hip injuries shortly before 10 a. m. today when his bicycle skidded on gravel as he rode

Wire Works Expanding

Wisconsin Firm Has $200,000 Project Underway

A $200,000 expansion program is underway at Wisconsin Wire Works, scheduled for completion late this summer. A 2-story, 17,000-square-foot addition is being made to the plant to handle wire processing and shipping.

The addition itself will cost about $100,000 and will be constructed of steel and masonry. The first floor will contain wire processing shops and the second floor will house the shipping department.

Cost of wire drawing and reeling equipment totals another $100,000. It is expected to provide additional production capacity.

The company expects to hire a few additional employees when the addition is completed, but the exact number has not been determined.

Corky Kelly Enters Military Academy
Philadelphia — Corky Kelly entered West Point yesterday.

The son of Colin P. Kelly Jr., one of America's first World War II heroes, young Corky was escorted to the academy for the start of classes by his mother and stepfather.

They went quietly from their home near Philadelphia, saying: "Colin wants to be like any other cadet. Please hold down the publicity."

Corky's father was killed three days after the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor in 1941. He piloted a bomber which sank a Japanese battleship. Six of the airmen parachuted to safety. One was killed at his station. Capt. Kelly went down with the plane.

Water Diversion Laws Relaxed for Industry

Upper Wisconsin Taconite Interests Supported by Legislators, Governors

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau
Madison — The state government relaxed state laws on water diversion for the express benefit of the infant taconite industry.

Upper Wisconsin commercial and civic interests have eagerly anticipated exploiting huge reserves of low grade iron ore in recent years, as a promising method of expanding employment in a region which has shown less economic growth than the state as a whole. Experimental processing of taconite has been joyfully received.

When taconite interests explained that they needed assurance of available water supplies for processing, state legislators and two governors responded. With the state's sensitive record on water diversion issues, the permit law providing for water diversion for ore processing developments was adopted with surprising ease.

Even some of the usually critical conservation organizations withheld their fire in deference to the powerful push for the bill from northern Wisconsin representatives and the positions of such political leaders as former Republicans Gov. Vernon W. Thomson and Democratic Gov. Gaylord A. Nelson.

Water diversion permits will be issued by the public service commission under a special and separate section of the water control statutes, the legislature decided.

Mining interests convinced the legislature that diversion is essential to develop a high cost processing industry for low grade ores because the extraction of "taconite" requires the use of huge amounts of water. About 1,000 gallons are needed for each ton of ore concentrate produced.

Two sites appear reasonably certain to be developed, at least experimentally. One is near the north fork of the Flambeau river, and water needed for the operation would probably be taken from that stream.

The Ashland company site is near the Ashland Mining company. Another is near Mellen, also in Ashland county, and is owned by the Oliver Iron Mining division of the United States Steel corporation.

Red Cross Gives Approval to New Respiration Method

Washington — The "mouth-to-mouth" technique of artificial respiration has been adopted officially by the American Red Cross for use on both adults and children.

But it considers as still acceptable the manual methods it has taught in the past.

The organization announced yesterday that teaching of the mouth-to-mouth system will begin immediately in Red Cross first aid and water safety courses. An instruction manual describing it has been distributed to chapters for that purpose.

In the newly adopted system, the rescuer breathes directly into the mouth or nose of the person under treatment. Air is thus forced into his lungs and then allowed to escape.
